WILSON WARNS THE COUNTRY OF GIANT TARIFF BILL LOBBY

President Declares That Lobbyists Are So Thick in Capital That a Stick Thrown in Any Direction Would Hit One

ISSUES BRIEF STATEMENT TELLING OF CONDITIONS

Greatest Lobby World Has Known Is Now in Washington Trying to Influence Senators Against Underwood Bill

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Wilson took personal and public cognizance today of the enormous lobby pervading Washington in the attempt to defeat the pending tariff legislation. As The Journal has stated, this lobby is the biggest that ever invaded the national capital for such a purpose.

To illustrate how numerous he thought the lobbyists to be, the president said you could not throw a brick in any direction in Washington without hitting a lobbyist. In order that the entire country might be informed of the army that is plotting the defeat of the administration's tariff legislation, the president issued a statement on the subject.

The subject was brought up voluntarily by the president during his regular Monday morning interview with the Washington correspondents. Having given his opinion as to what would happen in relation to throwing a brick, he gave the correspondents a gently sarcastic reply referring to them as being so fond of throwing bricks, and yet of having missed this opportunity.

It was the openly expressed opinion of the president that the people of the United States are entitled to know all about the efforts centering in Washington to win the few votes required to defeat the tariff bill. His statement for publication was as follows:

WILSON'S STATEMENT.

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the tariff bill. Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious, or so insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead the judgment of public men not only, but also the public opinion of the country itself.

"There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic of some of the chief items of the tariff bill.

"It is a tasteless interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interest of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it.

"The government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interuption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would, to be relieved from this unbearable situation."

President Wilson made it plain in his oral comments on the subject that he does not find fault with the presence in Washington of citizens whose interests are affected by legislation pending. But, he said the lobby now here is different, as of course everybody here knows.

NEED ONLY TWO VOTES.

Washington literally swarms with professional lobbyists of both sexes. Their efforts are concentrated not on amendments to perfect the tariff bill, but, to defeat it. The employers who send these people here do not believe that they will have received such benefits from a high tariff and will continue to receive for a considerable time longer if this bill can be deadlocked. The prize before these people is fabulous and it requires but two votes to receive it.

When the president was asked if the lobby was confined to prepresentatives of the sugar interests, he said it was not. Wool, he said, has a lobby here and so have other interests affected by the bill as it came from the house.

The president does not claim that corrupt measures are being taken by this lobby. He distinctly disclaimed any intention to insinuate that members of congress can be approached in that way. But, he did say the lobby is here and is decidedly different from a mere visit of

"I HAVE NO PROOF OF BRIBERY IN PHAGAN CASE," SAYS CHIEF

Chief Detective Declares He Has No Direct Evidence of Attempt to Influence Witnesses, as Published

CONLEY STICKS TO STORY UNDER SEVERE GRILLING

His Statement That He Wrote Notes at Frank's Dictation a Disturbing Element—Search for Evidence Continues

Chief of Detectives Lanford positively denied to The Journal Monday afternoon that he has secured any proof of efforts to bribe witnesses in the Phagan case proper.

The official made this statement when questioned about the numerous rumors and reports of bribery of witnesses, some of which have been published and given general circulation.

Chief Lanford states that he is in possession of no affidavits relating to attempts to bribe Phagan witnesses, nor has he proof of any sort, he says, which would show that friends of the man indicted for the murder or anyone else, had sought to bribe any witness.

Chief Lanford says, however, that he personally believes that efforts to influence witnesses have been made, and that he is vigorously probing the rumors.

The indictment of Leo M. Frank on a charge of murdering Mary Phagan has not halted the several investigations of the case. Monday morning neither the city detectives, the Pinkertons nor the Burns forces ceased their efforts to unearth new and cumulative evidence in the case.

The principal efforts of the detectives now as they have been almost from the begining, directed towards securing evidence to build up the state case against the factory superintendent.

Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, who was first employed by the National Pencil company to search for and prosecute the murderer of Mary Phagan, now states that he has secured sufficient evidence to convict Frank.

When the case comes to trial the Pinkertons will join in the prosecution and the evidence they have gathered will be submitted to the courts.

Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford shares the opinion of the Pinkerton man that evidence sufficient to convict has been gathered against the factory official.

A DISTURBING ELEMENT.

The sensational statement of James Conley, the negro sweeper, that he wrote at Frank's dictation notes believed to be the ones found by Mary Phagan's body, is proving a disturbing element in the case, and detectives have made every effort to break the negro's story.

If his story is true, Conley says that they want to know it now. However, they say that they are becoming more and more convinced that the story told by Conley Saturday morning is the absolute truth.

"Conley certainly wrote the notes," said one of the detectives Monday. "It doesn't take an expert to realize that beyond a shadow of a doubt his hand penned the words on the two bits of paper. The only question is to make sure that he is telling the truth as to the time of the writing and the circumstances, and he tells a mighty straight story."

Conley tells the detectives that he only realized some days after the crime that he was the writer of the all important notes in the mysterious case.

Then, Conley says, a negro in his cell got hold of a copy of The Journal in which the notes were reproduced in a photograph with the name of Newt Lee and Leo M. Frank's handwriting.

Conley claims, according to the officer, that he then kept quiet in hopes that he would receive financial reward from the man, whom, he says, dictated the words to him.

Frank had told him, according to the detective's version of the negro's story, that he wanted him to write in order that he might send his (Conley's) letter to Mrs. Frank in Brooklyn, who wanted to give a good job to a bright and honest negro boy.

Frank left him with the impression, the chief is said to have told the officers, that an easy job with good pay awaited him with Mrs. Frank, Sr., in Brooklyn.

The detectives declared that never has a witness been put through such a severe cross examination as they have given him in an effort to break down his sensational story.

MAYOR PARDONS ROPER; TILT GROWS LIVELIER

Recorder Broyles Replies to Woodward's Statement That He Is a "Monomaniac"

The pardon controversy between Mayor Woodward and Recorder Broyles was further enlivened Monday by a pardon for Dr. W. D. Roper, the druggist and alleged blind tiger, and a statement by Recorder Broyles concerning the mayor.

In pardoning Roper, the mayor says he could not find in a close examination of the records of the case sufficient grounds to justify a conviction, much less a heavy fine of $500 or thirty days in the stockade.

Concerning the mayor, Recorder Broyles says if his views in favor of firm and uncompromising enforcement of the law justify the title of "monomaniac," applied to him by the mayor, then he accept it.

Some months ago Roper was arrested on a blind tiger charge, was found guilty by the recorder, and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 or serve thirty days in the stockade. He appealed his case and the court of appeals sustained Recorder Broyles.

This decision came down two months ago. Roper in the meantime has been at liberty, at the direction of the mayor, who said he was examining the records and considering a pardon.

Last Saturday Recorder Broyles issued written orders for the police to rearrest Roper, which was done. He said two months was long enough for the mayor to consider a pardon.

THE MAYOR'S PARDON.

The mayor's letter to the chief, directing that Roper be set at liberty, reads as follows:

"Atlanta, Ga., May 26, 1913.

"Chief of Police, City of Atlanta.

"Dear Sir: It appears from the accompanying papers that on Februry 12, 1912, Dr. W. D. Roper was charged with violating section 1489 of the city code of 1910. He was declared guilty and a fine of $500 placed on him. The matter was appealed to the superior court and finally to the court of appeals.

"In the court of appeals Judge Pottle was the judge who rendered the decion, which, altogether, makes five typewritten lines. In that decision Judge Pottle makes use of the language, 'THAT THE EVIDENCE WAS CIRCUMSTANTIAL AND NOT ALTOGETHER SATISFACTORY.' Yet in deference to the decision of the recorder, the court of appeals decided not to interfere.

"I have closely read the records of the entire case, and I am frank to admit that I can find nothing even justifying a conviction, much less the carrying of such a heavy penalty.

"A man's liberty is the highest thing o nthis earth to him and any attempt to deprive him of that liberty should be backed by a cause of absolute just provocation. I cannot in this case find reason to reduce the amount of the fine, and I, therefore, relieve Dr. W. D. Roper from further service or from paying anything on this fine, and it is decreed that he be set at liberty.

"Respectfully,

(Signed) "J. G. WOODWARD,
"Mayor."

THE RECORDER'S STATEMENT.

Recorder Broyles' statement concerning the mayor reads as follows:

"The mayor calls me a monomaniac because I believe firmly and uncompromisingly in suppressing crime and upholding the law. I believe that the lawlessness in Atlanta, in Georgia, and in

VETERANS ASSEMBLE FOR REUNION WHERE ONCE THEY BATTLED

Thin Line of Gray Arrives in Chattanooga for Annual Reunion of United Confederate Veterans Tuesday

(By Associated Press.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 26.—Mobilization of United Confederate veterans here for their twenty-third annual reunion continued rapidly throughout the night and today.

Large crowds of civilians thronged the two railroad terminal stations and watched the veterans detrain. More than a thousand veterans spent the night at Camp Stewart and this number was greatly augmented today.

General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, Ky., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, is already in the city. After a careful inspection of the arrangements made for the accommodation of the veterans he pronounced them equal, if not superior, to those at any previous reunion.

General Young has been in close communication with railroad officials and predicts that more than 100,000 visitors and veterans will be in the city when the annual reunion is formally opened tomorrow at the auditorium.

The assignment committee kept its headquarters open throughout the night. Civilians and soldiers were directed to homes and to Camp Stewart immediately upon their arrival. The capacity of the hotels already is taxed to the utmost, many of their reservations having been made months ago.

The first business meeting of reunion week is scheduled for this afternoon. Members of the Confederate States Memorial association and organization of the Women of the Confederacy will hold a welcome gathering at which addresses will be delivered by Mrs. M. T. Armstrong, president of the local association; Generl Bennett H. Young, in behalf of the veterans; General John B. Hickman, for the Tennessee division U. C. V.; Mrs. Alexander B. White, in behalf of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and others.

Tonight the opening sessions of the Sons of Confederate Veterans will be convened. J. P. Norfleet, of Memphis, Tenn., commander-in-chief of the organization, will preside at all business sessions of this department.

An interesting feature of the meeting tonight will be the presentation of sponsors.

THE "ASTRIDE" BAN.

The recent official order of General J. P. Hickman, commander of the Tennessee division, United Confederate Veterans, and grand marshal of the veterans, adopted, prohibiting women from riding astride during the reunion here, has brought forth many expressions of protest and commendation.

Opposition to the order is being discussed very largely by some of the sponsors and maids of honor affected.

In defense of General Hickman's order, Dr. A. A. Lyon, of Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the Army and Navy Medical association, United Confederate Veterans, in a statement today is quoted as follows:

"This unnatural cross saddle movement appears but the logical outgrowth

POLICE BOARD DEADLOCK STILL REMAINS UNBROKEN

Reports That Commissioner Dozier Has Deserted Chairman Mason Are Untrue

That deadlock in the police board over the question of permitting Chief Beavers to name a successor to the late Sergeant K. S. Fost has not been broken, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

The board is still divided—six and six—on the proposition of whether the chief or the board shall select the new sergeant. It has been rumored that Commissioner G. P. Dozier, who supported Chairman Carlos H. Mason in his demand that the chief be allowed to be chief in fact as well as in name, had deserted Chairman Mason and joined with the forces of Mayor Woodward, who seeks to have the police board name the new sergeant.

Commissioner Dozier, while declining to make any extensive comment on the situation and expressing his reluctance to figure in the newspapers, Monday morning declared that he had not changed his attitude in the least.

It is not claimed that there have been any other desertions from either side. Therefore, the deadlock has not been broken. The line-up continues as follows:

For permitting the chief to select a sergeant: Mason, Fain, Dozier, King, McEachern and Smith.

Against: Woodward, Clarke, Johnson, Vernoy, Garner and Colcord.

Should there be defections from the ranks of either side the election of a sergeant will not occur until the next regular police board meeting on the second Tuesday evening in June, and perhaps not then.

In the event one side or the other loses a vote a special meeting will be called and the election held. Seven members of the board can legally direct the chairman to call a special meeting.

J. Wylie Smith Out on Bond, to Mend Health

J. Wylie Smith was released from the Tower on bond, Monday afternoon.

The man whom detectives and police hunted unavailingly until of his own accord he returned recently from Mexico to the United States soil and gave himself up, now is breathing the good air of Georgia again, hoping to recuperate. When he was received in the tower, directly upon his return from Mexico, he declared his belief that he was going to die.

Now the man who is charged with the wreck of the Commercial Loan and Discount company, is endeavoring to mend his broken health, at the home of his brother in College Park.

His bond for $3,000 was signed by I. C. Clark. He left the tower at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The date has not been set for his trial under the indictment for forgery, returned against him a couple of years ago. So far as is known, he has not employed a lawyer to defend him.

Recently, while yet in jail, Smith said that Caleb Clarke, receiver for the affairs of the defunct company, had found some important papers revealing much, and that by means of these he, smith, hoped to prove his innocence.

THOROUGH PROBE OF CHARGES AGAINST FELDER AND LATTER'S CHARGES AGAINST POLICE ASKED

"I Shall Lay Evidence Gathered by the Detectives and Col. Felder's Charges of Graft and Corruption All Before the Grand Jury," Says the Chief, "Asking That a Searching Investigation Be Made So That the Whole Truth Shall Come Out"

"ONE CROOK FREQUENTLY TURNS UP ANOTHER," DECLARES CHIEF IN STATEMENT MONDAY MORNING

Mayor Woodward Gives Out Interview, Answering the Chief and Denying That He Has Hampered Him in His Crusade. He Says Chief Should Clean Up Center of the City—Hints of an Investigation by Police Board—Col. Felder Has No Statement Monday

After giving out a tart statement in which he vigorously arraigns Colonel Thomas B. Felder, Police Chief James L. Beavers Monday morning announced that he would at once go before the Fulton county grand jury and insist upon a thorough investigation by that body of the charges which have been made against Colonel Felder, Mayor Woodward, E. O. Miles and C. C. Jones.

Chief Beavers declared that he would also urge the grand jury to make a searching inquiry into Colonel Felder's charges that graft and corruption exists in the police and detective departments and would ask that the grand jury thoroughly investigate Colonel Felder's allegations that both he (Chief Beavers) and Chief Lanford are guilty of acts involving moral turpitude.

"I want the official limelight turned on this entire affair," said the chief of police. "I shall request the grand jury to hew to the line and let the chips fall wherever they may."

Chief Beavers will carry the matter to the grand jury in person. He will lay before that body all of the affidavits in his possession as well as the records of the dictograph which are sworn to, and will also invite the grand jury's attention to Colonel Felder's charges against himself, Chief Lanford and the department in general.

"I do not propose for these charges to go unchallenged," stated the chief. "If Mr. Felder has the facts to substantiate his declarations the grand jury should give him an opportunity to produce them."

This announcement by Chief Beavers has created another sensation and a grand jury probe will be awaited with great interest by the public in the hope that the surcharged atmosphere may be clarified.

POLICE BOARD MAY INVESTIGATE.

It was rumored Monday that friends of Colonel Felder would seek to have the board of police commissioners investigate Colonel Felder's charges of corruption in the police department.

"I have nothing to say for publication today," said Colonel Felder, when he had read The Journal containing Police Chief Beavers' latest statement. "I will seasonably and appropriately reply to the attacks of Beavers, Lanford and others."

Colonel Felder would not indicate what his plans are, but it is believed that he is gathering material for another statement and that he will give one out within the next few days.

Colonel Felder declared that he was receiving hundreds of letters, telegrams, telephone messages and personal calls in which he was being assured of the confidence and esteem of the public. He indicated that the situation would very shortly take a decisive turn.

Mayor Woodward has issued a statement in reply to Chief Beavers which is published below.

CHIEF BEAVERS' STATEMENT.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers issued the following statement Monday morning:

"As to Colyar, I never heard of him until this thing came up. He may be a crook. As far as I know, it seems that Mr. Felder has known him for a long time, but it is no uncommon thing for one crook to turn up another to the police, or turn state's evidence.

"When I heard of this deal that Mr. Felder was trying to make in the Phagan case I told Chief Lanford to advise with Solicitor Dorsey and get his advice in the matter. He did this. I did not want anything done that would not be perfectly legitimate.

"G. C. Febuary, who is a trusted man in the detective department, was instructed to carry out the deal with him. Now it appears that Mr. Felder has been closely associated with Colyar for a long time and certainly should have known what manner of man he is.

"If he knew him to be a crook, why did he enter into a deal like this with him if he wanted to do the straight thing? I say that I never heard of this man Colyar, but I would have listened to any report or rumor in hunting the guilty party in a case like that of the Phagan murder.

"It seems that Mr. Felder in his ramifications through the press tries to get eloquent and undertakes to tell about the government of Scotland and the conditions in Ireland, as if that had anything to do with this case he's trying to distract attention from.

"What he has said about me and as far as his evidence he claims to have about my moral turpitude as chief of police or as a citizen, I defy him to show anything wrong. If he is a good loyal citizen, which he claims to be, why did he not go to the police commission and lay the evidence before them?

HIRED BY THE GANG.

"Now Mr. Felder knows well enough that if he had anything that would have been damaging against the police department he would have hurried to bring it to the proper authorities.

"That is what you are hired to do by a gang you are very close to.

"I would say that some one has been misled by Mr. Felder, or no doubt he would be in South Carolina today where he belongs.

"So much for Mr. Felder.

"I see that Mr. Woodward says he has nothing against me personally. Now I don't quite understand his connection with the Felder-Colyar affair. He knew that G. C. Febuary was a trusted employe of the police department and if Febuary knew of crookedness or graft in the department he would have forced him to divulge it or seen that he was turned out of the department.

"If Febuary had known anything of the kind and not made it known he would have been equally guilty.

"Mr. Woodward knows that in the frequent talks with me since he has been mayor there has hardly been a time that he did not bring up the question of the red light district, and he gave me to understand in his first talk with me that these women should be allowed to go back to Manhattan avenue where they had previously plied their nefarious trade.

"No longer than last Saturday a week ago he asked me if I was willing for Eva Clark and her mother to move into a house on Armstrong street in front of the Grady hospital, where they had previously lived.

"I told him I would answer him as I did Alderman McClelland; that it was none of my business as long as she did not violate the law, but that if she did she would have to take the consequences.

"Mr. Woodward also told me the first of the year that if my vice policy was continued the police department would be reeking with graft like the New York department.

GRAFT ON OUTSIDE.

"I told him that no graft had ever existed and I was satisfied there would never be any.

"I told him that from what I had heard someone outside the police department had been receiving money from the vice traffic that virtually amounted to graft and extortion.

"I am ready and willing to compare my past record both as a citizen and as an official with Mr. Woodward as to which is in the right and which is in the wrong."

"I HAVEN'T HAMPERED THE CHIEF," ANSWERS MAYOR J. G. WOODWARD

Mayor Woodward Monday morning dictated to a Journal reporter the following reply to Chief Beavers' statement:

"In the first place I want to say that I dislike to go into the newspapers with a statement concerning the head of a city department. In my statement in The Journal Sunday morning I said that I didn't want to get into a newspaper controversy with Chief Beavers. I said nothing in that statement to offend the chief.

"Now, as to the chief's statement this morning. Eva Clark called me up over the telephone last Friday a week ago, I think it was, and asked me if it would be all right for her to take up her residence on Jenkins street. I believe the number was 95. She said she

BANKER RECOVERS FROM BICHLORIDE POISONING

Cashier of State National Bank in Orlando, Fla., Mistakes Tablet for Medicine

(By Associated Press.)

ORLANDO, Fla., May 26.—That bichloride of mercury poison is not always fatal, was demonstrated here last Saturday when S. Waters Howe, cashier of the State National bank, swallowed a tablet of that deadly drug mistaking it for a headache dose. As the tablet passed down his throat it contracted the medicine so violently that he discovered his mistake and hurried to the city physician, who at once used the stomach pump and gave antidotes with the result that Howe is about as well as usual and he has experienced no harm, either.

Chicagoan Who Swallowed Bichloride Also Recovers

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHICAGO, May 26.—W. L. McCutcheon, who swallowed three tablets of bichloride of mercury Saturday, left the Washington Park hospital yesterday and is expected to soon be completely recovered. Physicians at first had doubts of his recovery, but he was pronounced out of danger yesterday.

McCutcheon, who lives at 6604 Normal avenue, took the tablets for asnerin by mistake. According to McCutcheon he immediately took something that caused nausea after he discovered his mistake, and summoned a doctor. His case was said to be similar to that of E. Sanders Walker, the Macon, Ga., banker.

CAT CATALOGUED WHIPS IN CATACOMBS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., May 26.—Powerless to resist the attraction of a wagon whip which acts upon him in the same manner in which a handsome piece of lace attracts the female kleptomaniac, a large cat, owned by J. F. Robertson, a prominent local business man, has turned whip thief in earnest.

The cat watched at the back door of Mr. Robertson's grocery store for wagons to approach and stop. Then, when the owner goes into the business house to purchase goods, the cat springs into the wagon, gets a whip on the whip and drags it out, pulling it into the store. Dozens of whips have been surreptitiously stolen by the cat during the past few months, causing Mr. Robertson to believe, in all seriousness, that the animal is afflicted with kleptomania.

Mr. Robertson estimates the cat's worth at $30 per annum to his business; but he insists that he means in the number of rats and mice caught and not in the value of the whips it secures.

BABE CRUSHED UNDER HEAVY MOTORCYCLE

(By Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Mich., May 26.—Narrowly escaping death three times in one afternoon, two-year-old Ursula Mayotte lost her life last night because there was no one near to rescue her when danger threatened the fourth time.

First the child turned the jets on a gas stove, and when found was almost unconscious from the fumes. Then she pulled from a table a pan of scalding water and was snatched aside just in time to save her from injury. A short time afterward she ran in the path of a speeding automobile and was pulled out of the way, the car grazing her as it sped by.

After a short period of quiet she went out on the street again. Five minutes later her dead body was found under a heavy motorcycle. The machine had been left standing at the curb and the little girl evidently had managed to tip it over on herself. Her skull was crushed.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 26.—The lives of fifty sailors on the torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones were endangered Friday at the same hour of the explosion on the destroyer Stewart, according to information which leaked out today. The Paul Jones was making a speed test, when a fireman noticed steam escaping from a crack in the tube of one of the boilers. He shut down the boiler and averted what might have proved a disaster.

The Paul Jones' boilers have been condemned and the ship will be sent at once to Mare Island yard for repairs.

Washington Society Plays a Ball Game For Sweet Charity

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Arrayed like Fatimaff's, society leaders, army officers, financial magnates and other men prominent in social and political circles, appeared today at the American league baseball park to battle on the diamond for the honor of the exclusive Metropolitan club and the Chevy Chase club, and for the benefit of a local hospital.

It was the annual game for charity and society was out in force.

A box had been reserved for the use of President Wilson and members of his family, and among the other box holders were Chief Justice and Mrs. White, Joseph Letter, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry and Mrs. Philip Sheridan. The marine band was on hand to furnish the music.

The two teams had been practicing faithfully for more than a week. The Metropolitan players were captained by Henri De Sidour, while the Chevy Chase team was led on the field by James Archibald. The players wore their old college baseball suits and in some instances uniforms requisitioned from the lockers of the Washington team's clubhouse.

Tommy Burns' Prize Fight Arena in Calgary Destroyed Sunday Night

CALGARY, Alta., May 26.—Tommy Burns' prize fight arena, in which Luther McCarty was killed Saturday afternoon in the fight with Arthur Pelkey, was burned to the ground last night.

Four deaths were narrowly averted. Wesley Benson, his wife and two children were asleep in one corner of the building, and they escaped just in time. The building was insured.

Golf Links Are Quiet While Millionaires And Caddies Worship

(By Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 26.—Every inhabitant of Wyoming, a suburb of about 3,000 population, yesterday went to church as a result of a house to house canvass made by the moral uplift committee of the Wyoming Welfare association.

The suburb is the home of rich Cincinnatians, but they gave their chauffeurs a day off and trudged to church side by side with them. Instead of the usual Sunday dinners, the cooks were excused and given seats in the pews with their employers.

Street cars running through the village did not ring their gongs. The golf links, always crowded on Sunday, were deserted and the caddies attended church, too. Wyoming has four churches of different denominations and extra services had to be held to accommodate the worshippers.

SELECTING TITLES IN THE BOOKLOVERS' CAMPAIGN

Once more comes the old query: "Is last year's catalogue any good in this campaign?" We have told our readers time after time that last year's catalogue would not be of any use to you in this campaign, as it does not contain all the titles we will use in this campaign. So that any one depending on the last year's catalogue would naturally turn in a great many titles not in this year's catalogue and, therefore, could not be correct, as all titles we represent by picture are in our new catalogue. If you are still working with last year's catalogue your cue is to keep it and get a new one containing ALL the titles, and also get our new Answer Book arranged for convenience in submitting your answers at the close of the campaign.

With this Answer Book we will give you the first 35 prize pictures free. And the Answer Book gives you the right to ten answers for each title, using only one of each picture, instead of ten of each picture under the old plan of submitting answers.

The catalogue is 25 cents at the office and 27 cents by mail, and the Answer Book is 80 cents at the office and 90 cents by mail.

Use the coupons in ordering.

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES

Mrs. T. M. G., Atlanta. Q. If I purchase an Answer Book will I have to submit ten answers to each picture, or as many as I care to? Answer. You can submit one or ten answers to each picture. For instance if you decide you will only send one answer to picture No. 1, use only one, and on No. 2 and all pictures following use as many as you need, up to ten allowed you.

J. G. All you need in the Answer Book is one of each picture, trim neatly to fit the space set aside for them. You will not need top or bottom number or coupon with Answer Book.

J. R. The Answer Book issued by The Journal is the only one that will be allowed in this campaign, in order to give you the right to ten answers on each title.

Mrs. J. G. C., Griffin. No. 27 is drawn to represent a city scene and No. 16 a mountain scene.

Mrs. C. B. J., Macon. Get a dictionary and find some of the names you ask about. Your public library can give you the information on the foreign names used.

JUDGE ORDERS MASSEE BE REMANDED TO TRIAL

Supreme Court Holds That Bail for Macon Man Was Error

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 26.—W. J. Massee, the wealthy Macon, Ga., capitalist, is ordered to be remanded to the sheriff of Spartanburg county and by him turned over to a proper officer of the state of Tennessee to be taken back there and stand trial unless it is shown that the requisition issued for Massee by Governor Hooper is officially withdrawn in an opinion rendered today by the state supreme court reversing the order of Circuit Judge Sease, who discharged Massee on a writ of habeas corpus. Massee is out on a $10,000 bond and is at his home in Georgia.

The supreme court holds that Judge Sease erred in allowing Mr. Massee bail and that the circuit judge or state courts in habeas corpus proceedings testing the validity of extradition papers can go so far only as to inquiring whether they are regularly made out under the federal laws.

This case is one of the most interesting which has been before the courts in many years and in its decision the court touches on many matters affecting the granting of requisitions by one state for fugitives who flee to another state.

A SAMARITAN

James Craig is a prosperous merchant of Silverton, Oregon. He has time to think of the health and happiness of those about him.

A young lady school teacher, the daughter of a friend, was succumbing to Bright's Disease. Craig wrote to the late N. W. Spalding, then United States sub-treasurer of San Francisco, to ask if there was any truth in the report that Bright's Disease was being cured in California. Spalding replied that, after he had spent $10,000 with physicians, his own daughter had recovered, and that, too, after *the dropsy had de*veloped and the case was supposed to be hopeless and to tell the father to put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound.

Craig advised the girl's father of the satisfactory nature of the report, and the Renal Compound was taken to the patient. She recovered and was teaching school at last advices.

Craig was so delighted that he told others. He has sent us the names of nearly a dozen whom he has helped to new lease of life.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Frank Edmondson & Bro., 11 N. Broad St., and 106 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease, or write Jno. J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.—(Advt.)

Georgia Leads the South In Number of Automobiles.

According to records recently compiled by the Southern Press Clipping Bureau, Georgia has nearly twice as many automobiles as any other State in the South and, furthermore, its increase in this regard has been far greater during the past year than that of any of its neighboring commonwealths. Only nine Southern States, it seems, require State registration of motor vehicles but these suffice to make the comparison a fair one and to remove any doubt of Georgia's leadership in the entire section.

The figures in detail are so interesting as to be worthy of reproduction in the following table, which shows the number of automobiles owned in each of the given States both this year, up to May the first, and in 1912:

Georgia, 20,078;	last year, 14,000.
Tennessee, 11,225;	last year, 7,181.
Florida, 9,978;	last year, 4,896.
Alabama, 4,350;	last year, 3,360.
Arkansas, 4,500;	last year, 2,000.
North Carolina, 7,000;	last year, 4,000.
Virginia, 6,094;	last year, 4,020.
Kentucky, 7,500 (estimated);	last year, 4,000.

Georgia's record in this particular may be variously interpreted. To some minds, the remarkable increase in automobiles suggests abundant prosperity, to others short-sighted extravagance, while still others ascribe it to the development of good roads throughout the State and believe that the automobile has been the chief agency in highway improvement. Certain it is that no State whose people were not doing well in their material affairs could have increased its number of automobiles from fourteen thousand to more than twenty thousand within a twelvemonth. Extravagance might lead a limited class of individuals to folly but it would not infect so many thousands. To a considerable extent, therefore, the automobile may be regarded as a token of good times in Georgia.

Of chief interest and importance, however, is the relationship between motor cars and good roads. That the automobile has been a quickening and constructive influence for highway extension and improvement, there can be no doubt. It not only created a new necessity for better roads but it has continually emphasized that necessity in the public's eye. It has furnished a fresh and definite ground of appeal for the betterment and the increase of highways.

This becomes evident when it is remembered that the great campaign for good roads which is now vigorously astir the country over, dates only from the past five or ten years, which is the very period within which the automobile came into widely popular use. Long before that time, farmers and merchants and the public generally were suffering because of poor or insufficient roads and, as a matter of theory, the priceless value of well built and well kept highways was recognized. But, interestingly enough, it was not until the advent of this new type of vehicle, to which good roads were indispensable, that any well and widely organized movement for highway development began.

The numerous good-road tours which the automobile made possible have served as nothing else could to arouse popular interest in this great cause and also to organize public endeavor in its behalf. The building of the Journal-Herald National Highway from New York to Atlanta and its subsequent extension to Jacksonville is a striking instance in point. From the first expedition of the pathfinders to the last crowning tour, the automobile was the chief instrument and the mainstay of that far-reaching enterprise.

And so in every campaign to arouse counties or States to the importance of good roads and to unite them in effective efforts the automobile has been invaluable.

Latest reports were that California was still in the ring.

Where to spend the summer vacation is often a question of wherewithal.

A Needed Institution Which Judges Indorse.

The industrial home or reformatory, established some years ago at Milledgeville by an act of the Legislature, was originally intended to care for girls as well as boys. Indeed, the authors and supporters of the bill in question recognized that it was just as important, if not more so, to provide a place of shelter and corrective training for wayward girls as for wayward boys. But in the very outset the demands upon the institution overswept its facilities and, so, the necessities of circumstances have limited the Milledgeville reformatory to boys.

The need of a similar institution for girls is urgent, not simply as a matter of sentiment of humanitarianism but as a matter of social justice and security. It is expected that a bill providing for this need will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature. A proposal to this effect has been indorsed by superior court judges in various parts of the State and by practically everyone who has come in contact with the problems which a girl's reformatory and training school are needed to solve.

Judge John T. Pendleton, of Fulton county, declares in this connection: "I think a reformatory for girls is very much needed in Georgia. The children's court has on several occasions had to send girls to Cincinnati for the lack of a reformatory in Georgia." This conviction is shared by scores of other judges whose opinion should carry great weight with the Legislature.

Georgia should solve her own problems of this character and not depend upon the charity of distant sections.

Well, shall it be a sane Fourth?

A man with lofty aims may be a poor shot.

Incidentally, Secretary Bryan is a fine press agent for the soft drink industry.

It is significant that the South American revolutions stopped along about the time dollar diplomacy ceased.

Developing Citizenship in Boys.

The proposed organization of a junior order of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is in keeping with a movement now broadly manifest to awaken and foster in the boys of the country an intelligent interest in the civic affairs. Since these lads are soon to take up the duties of citizenship and since upon them depend the community's future growth and welfare, it is proper that they should be trained as early as possible for the part they are to play.

An interesting example of just what may be done in this direction is offered by Poukhkeepsie, N. Y. The mayor and council of that city recently presented a medal to the member of the local Boy Scouts who made the highest mark in a competitive examination on municipal affairs. Among the points covered were the following: the population of the city, the facts and needs of a proposed new sewage system, the number of policemen and their duties, the benefits of extending of a certain street, the number of fire departments, the location of fire alarm boxes and the proper method of turning in an alarm, the names of the heads of the various city departments, the names of the parks and the desirability of public parks, the location of wards and original suggestions as to how the Boy Scouts may be of service to the public. Besides answering these questions, each contestant was required to submit a short essay on some point of scenic or historic interest within five miles of the city.

The medal was publicly presented and the occasion served to arouse keen interest among citizens generally as well as among the members of the younger generation. Similar examinations are to be held from time to time throughout the year. It is certain that the boys of Poughkeepsie are learning much about their city and are already developing those qualities that will make them true and useful citizens.

Some such plan might well be adopted in every progressive community. The suggestion of a junior of the Chamber of Commerce would doubtless be profitable in Atlanta.

Safety in Air Flights.

The statistical report showing that the United States has a larger percentage of accidental deaths among its army aviators than any other nation except Italy has given rise to much comment and questioning. Are our aviators less skilled or more reckless than those of foreign countries?

Not at all, thinks the chief signal officer of the army. He points out that very few American officers have thus far been available for long periods of aeronautic training and that at the same time those who are engaged in flights "average nearly twice the number of hours in the air and miles covered per aviator" as compared with foreigners. And he adds, interestingly: "Unfortunately casualties are given much more prominence in our publications than successful achievements."

This latter observation is well made. While we hear a great deal of the failures and tragedies of aviation, we hear little of the patient, effective efforts that are being made every day by hundreds of unknown birdmen. For every flight that ends disastrously, there are scores which are made securely.

THE OLDER SISTER

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

She was one of those born-motherly souls. There are some women (for them our warmest thanks go up to heaven) who come into this selfish world equipped with the mothering instinct.

She was the Oldest Sister. The mother, a weak, lovable, and entirely incompetent being, died after she had brought six girls into life.

The Older Sister moved naturally up into the mother's place. She looked after the younger sisters, mended their stockings, kept their frocks neat and their bedrooms in order, their hair combed, and their nails cleaned.

She watched the home expenditures, checked up the grocery man, and saw to it that the cook prepared something fit to eat.

She also attended to father, had his suits pressed, his laundry well done, and his slippers ready.

There are two classes of human beings. One assumes responsibility. The other avoids it. She assumed it. The others unanimously let her.

She sent the children to school. She got most of their lessons for them. She was the High Wall and the Shepherd Dog and the Rear Guard of that family.

She saw them all married. Then she herself was married. She was beautiful, with a demure kind of beauty. Her husband adored her.

He took her away and loaded her with attentions. He surrounded her with servants. Luxuries were at her hand.

She pined away. She was not happy. Some women are by nature wives and some are by nature mothers. She ought to have had children, but had none.

One day her husband was brought home a cripple. He had been in a railway accident. He would never be well again.

They said she should be taken to the hospital. There she stood firm, insisting that she would care for him herself. So she nursed him. And began to pick up. To be coddled did not agree with her; coddling some one she loved gave her health and happiness.

After her husband died she began taking care of her sisters' children. Her sisters handed them over to her as a matter of course. She mothered them all, planned, worked and dreamed for them.

Her whole life was spent in an unending sacrifice for others. Perhaps she "deserved no credit" for this, because she liked to do it.

Once when she was fifteen, her father brought home six large, red apples. She gave each of her sisters one, laying her own on the kitchen shelf. They devoured theirs, then the two smallest came and stood about looking at the apple on the shelf. She cut it in two and gave each one-half. They ate joyfully.

Their explanation of this was that sister DID NOT LIKE APPLES!

Perhaps the Oldest Sister was deficient in some way, and possibly there was truth in the remarks of some neighbors, that she lacked spirit, that she never amounted to much, and that she would have done better to have asserted her rights.

Perhaps.

But, please, Lord, don't stop making such as she!

Captain Barnacle's Log.

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

"I've been on the water wagon ever since my Tim Maloney's thirst coat us both a kingdom," declared Captain Barnacle, reminiscently. "Tim was first mate for me on the old whaler Belvidere, and when we got back after a three years' cruise in the Arctic Tim and me had about $3,000 between us.

"'Captain,' says he, 'let's quit the sea and become millionaires,' he says. I sure am agreeable if he can show me how.

"'Well buy an auto and take it down to Dahomey, where they haven't anything like that and then we'll soon be appointed rulers of the land.'

"Well, sir, this sounds pretty good to me, so we purchases a big car and has it shipped to Africa. We started inland from Tunis and kept going on through the desert for the farther end of Dahomey, where they are still wild and uncivilized. Tim was a good companion, but he was given to drinking. He was always thirsty. We had a good supply of drinkables along and also had a large tank of gasoline.

"We kept joutneying for a month and finally reached the valley of the El-Tabre river, where the natives are rich and are ruled by a beautiful queen, who was almost white. Here it was that we stopped. The people had never heard of an auto, much less seen one, and they thought we were supernatural beings. They immediately fell down and started to worship the auto, and when I honked the horn they knew we were some kind of spirits direct from the sky.

"The highest officials came out to escort us to the town, and we were immediately taken before the queen. I started to make love to her at once, and she also took a fancy to me. The first thing I did was to take her out for an auto ride. Say, she was crazy over it. Talk about the lure of joy riding! That queen wanted to ride all the time. She also showered presents on both me and Tim. She made me sort of a prime minister, and pretty soon our engagement was announced by the court chronicle. Everything was fine. I saw years of peace as king of this wealthy people, with an occasional trip to Europe or America for a little change from the cares of being a king. Tim was also happy, although he seemed to be about half in drink all the time. I kept wondering how he had managed to make his booze last so long. Strange, but this race of people didn't know what liquor was, and I knew Tim couldn't have found any in the city. But I didn't care what he did as long as no one was injured except himself.

"Well, the wedding day was set for one week off, and I was just about as contented as a mortal man can be, when the queen sent me word she wanted a long moonlight ride that night. This just suited me also. We started out and drove over beautiful roads, and everything went lovely for the first hour or so. Finally we wanted to be more alone, so we drove well up in the mountains. When we finally started homeward I thought the auto was acting funny, and suddenly it stopped. I investigated. To my horror I discovered that the gasoline tank was empty. And there was no more gasoline within at least 2,000 miles. The queen raised and ordered me to start the car. I tried to explain, but she wouldn't listen. We had to hike about ten miles before we could get a wagon. The next day Tim and I were banished from the kingdom.

"How did it happen? Why, that animal Tim had kept drunk on my gasoline, and he had emptied a fifty-gallon tank. The's all. But that's how his thirst lost me a crown."

The Ragtime Muse

TO A ROLL TOP DESK.

Hail, roll top desk! To thee I sing,
Mausoleum of my past!
What hopes and fears of earlier years
Sleep in thy caverns vast!
My thoughts within thy records lie;
Blind memories dig like moles
Amid the fixed sarcophagi
Of thy stuffed pigeonholes.

The plans that might have made me great,
Scenarios of success,
Therein thy tombs and dusty glooms
Conceal their deep distress
With many another paper hope
They share their dreadful lot;
These led me up life's sunny slope,
But now they are forgot.

Some day, when Gabriel honks his horn
And great thoughts come to life,
Thy caverns dread shall vent their dead,
And wonders will be rife.
The noble hope and dream and plan,
Long since consigned to thee,
Shall rise to bless each mortal man—
But how does that help me?

The Sea Dirge Dip.

"Full fathom five thy father lies."—THE TEMPEST

Come down, yes, come down to the bottom of the sea,
You and me, there will see where your daddy will be.
Five fathoms deep we'll dive; we'll dive;
And there we'll find him as sure as you're alive—
That terrible man with eyes of pearls,
Watchin' the sea nymphs unfurl their curls,
While they're ringing that hourly bell—
(What bell, what bell?)
While they're ringing his hourly knell (Ding, ding!)

CHORUS.

Oh! Oh! Oh! that Sea Dirge Dip,
(Don't you slip! don't you slip!)
Oh! Oh! Oh! that Sea Dirge Flip,
(What a clip! what a clip!)
We don't care if the water is wet;
All I want is you, my pet,
While we do that 'submarine,
Yes, that submarine—
That Submarine Sea Dirge Dip. E. J. K.

"Ich weiss nicht was soll es bedeuten
Dass ich so traurig bin."—HEINE.

O kid, I'm sad—no, I'm glad—
I'm going crazy 'bout that strain;
I hear it here, I hear it there.
It's got a frankgotch on my brain.
Look! she's up there ragging and glistennig—
I can't stop a-swaying and listening—
O, O, O, that me-hel-odee!
See her combing her locks on the rocks, on the rocks, on the rocks,
Humming that mysterious air; she's a bear, she's a bear, she's a bear!
Say, hon, I can't be hesitating
When I hear that syncopating;
It sure is intoxicating.
Is the tune, the tune of that haunting Lorelei rag. D. K.

One Day After Another in East Fairhope.

(From the Fairhope (Ala.) Courier.)

April 30th. The Thimble Club met with Mrs. Wilder. Darning was the order of the day. As usual, Mrs. Bell gave a short synopsis of Disraeli's Life; the principal point being that he was ten long years in the House of Commons before he made an impression on it. He then in 1847 made a speech that immortalized his name, and he remained one of the leaders of the British nation until his death in 1881.

The hostess daintily served two kinds of cake snow pudding and coffee all a fine quality. The day was beautiful and all enjoyed a lovely time.

May 1st. The Entre Nous Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Edward. Misses Olive Wood and Hazel Pilcher substituted for absent members. Three kinds of rich cake, strawberries sugar and cream, was served. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton carried off the prizes. All spent a very enjoyable evening.

May 7th. The Thimble Club met with Mrs. Edward. A variety of work was on hand. Mrs. Wilder narrated a woman's experience who had lost all ambition and was persuaded by kind friends to join a sewing club and by their sympathy and kindness she became enthused and not only was she benefited herself but became beneficial to others.

Mrs. Bell read Right Thinking, by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. One thought being: Energy spent without beneficial results, is indicative of a leak in the reservoir of thought. A delicious repast was served.

Mrs. Wilder sent a large box of Bermuda lilies and rose buds to Chicago to be placed on her mother's grave. Mrs. Thornton sent two boxes of lilies and roses to St. Louis, one each to her mother and mother-in-law. All of which came out of Mrs. Bell's garden without being missed.

May 9th. Mr. and Mrs. Brown kindly let the Entre Nous Club have the use of their house for a dance. A very enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson were over from Mobile and participated in the dance. Music furnished by Julius, (colored.)

Strawberries, mulberries, and several kinds of dewberries are still plentiful in East Fairhope, and are being put up in a number of ways, for future use.

THE INCOME TAX

XIX.—THE CORPORATION TAX.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The corporation tax law enacted in connection with the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill under circumstances which constitute a remarkable episode in American legislation, has proved an important revenue raising instrument, whatever the defects of it in other parts of the Payne-Aldrich law, no one seems to question the operation of the corporation tax clause. It has raised an average of about $27,000,000 a year in revenue. Furthermore, it has compelled corporations to keep accurate records of their business and to give the federal government a knowledge upon their affairs that has rarely been regarded as necessary. Knowing that their statements to the internal revenue bureau might be used against them in other tax proceedings it has been followed by a general tightening upon the methods employed in their houses in order. There are a little less than 300,000 corporations making returns showing the annual net incomes. They represent a total capitalization of about $60,000,000,000, and a total bonded and other indebtedness of approximately $32,000,000,000. Their net income approximates $3,250,000,000 a year. A look at the records of the tax in the internal revenue bureau discloses some interesting facts concerning different lines of business. For instance, while the major portion of the adverse criticism of corporations has been directed against the railroads and other public service corporations, the records reveal the fact that they make smaller net earnings than any other class of corporations. On the other hand, until recently few people have had much to say against financial institutions and banking companies and yet the corporation tax records disclose the fact that they make a greater profit than any other class of institutions. Of course, the fact that railways and the like are quasi-public partly accounts for this. These returns show that the net earnings of financial institutions and insurance companies amount to 15.84 per cent upon their capital stock, while those of mercantile corporations amount to 10.13 upon their capital stock. The percentage of industrial corporations averages 6 per cent, and that of public service corporations 5 per cent. The four states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio pay more than half of the tax. New York itself pays nearly a fourth of it.

As intimated above, the legislative history of the corporation tax is a remarkable one. The measure was not discussed or even thought of in the presidential campaign that preceded its enactment, and although the constitution vests in the house of representatives the right of originating all revenue legislation, it did not originate there, what never before it for consideration, discussion or vote, but was, as it came up in a conference report. It was not mentioned in the inaugural address of Mr. Taft, was not introduced by any member of congress, and had many other peculiar and unusual experiences. As a matter of fact, when it seemed that something had to be done to keep congress from passing an income tax law, the attorney general, George W. Wickersham, drafted the law and had it placed in the hands of congress.

On the floor of the senate Mr. Aldrich admitted that he was going to vote for the corporation tax law as a means of defeating the income tax. Senator Flint pronounced it a makeshift to serve until the income tax amendment could be passed and it became law in spite of undoubted constitutionality enacted. Senator Root declared himself for it because, though unjust, it was a wise measure and against the income tax law because he believed it would be an unwise one.

* * *

Fifteen cases were submitted to test the constitutionality of the law, and perhaps the first one taken by the court afforded the best illustration of how justice it might work. It was the case of Flint and Stone, Tracy & Co. Some years previous to this there was a big firm by the name of Taxbury & Stone. It was dissolved and two separate businesses established, which became active competitors. One business was a corporation and the other a partnership. Under the law the one business was compelled to pay the tax and the other was not. The one business required to open its books and the other was not. The supreme court, however, in spite of the unconstitutionality of two different classes of taxpayers, in this way, upheld the constitutionality of the law, and greater privileges and immunities of the corporation as compared with the partnership neutralized discrimination.

This was not the first time that the right of the federal government to tax had been done so in the income tax suit again under a law enacted in 1898 aimed at the trust and Standard Oil. This law provided a tax of 1-4 of 1 cent upon all gross receipts of corporations engaged in the oil or sugar refining business, where these receipts amounted to more than $2500 a year. The constitutionality of this tax was called into question upon the ground that it was a direct inheritory tax, and in contravention of the decision of 1895. But the court held otherwise.

The internal revenue authorities have nothing but good to say for the corporations' attitude toward the operation of the law. They say that the number of cases of willful attempts at evasion are almost negligible. Sometimes they are a straw which indicate that a corporation has charged up money spent for betterments to the account of expense, but these are much more frequently due to a misapprehension of the law than to any intention to evade the tax. Sometimes close corporations, whose stock is held by a few parties, but a ruling of the treasury department has put a check to that. And where there are errors they are not always against the United States by any means. Frequently a corporation finds that it has paid too much tax, that its books show a greater net profit than really was made. For instance, a corporation invests in securities made its returns on its profit from the sale of bonds. The bookkeeper entered upon the cost of the bonds in one account and on account the interest his corporation advanced. When the securities were sold his books showed the price of the bonds plus the interest in his profit on the sales. In making his returns to the internal revenue bureau he deducted the price paid for the bonds from the price at which they were sold, including interest, and thus found the gross profit. The tax was paid entirely to take off the interest paid out, and consequently, they showed a net income far in excess of the realities. The corporation overpaid the government more than $4,000 as a result.

What a River Can Do

Notwithstanding that railroads now skirt both banks, from source to mouth, the Ohio still floats an annual commerce of 10,000,000 tons, and 90 per cent of the commerce that goes down the Mississippi to New Orleans comes out of the Ohio. This results from the large shipments of coal from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, which are made in barges towed by powerful sternwheel steamboats of which the Sprague is the largest. The banner trip of this steamer, made from Louisville to New Orleans, was 87,500 tons. It is not unusual for steamers to bring into the Cincinnati market upon a freshet 250,000 tons of coal and finished steel products within a week. To move this quantity by rail would require 5,836 cars of forty-five tons each, made up into 146 trains of thirty cars each, drawn by as many locomotives. No railroad, however well equipped, could perform this service inside of sixty days without excluding its regular traffic, an easy notation of its inability to assemble such a quantity of traffic at either end of its terminal. This illustrates the illimitable capacity of river transportation.—Alfred Bettinger in National Waterways.

ET FIVE GOOD MEN SAY IF CHARGES ARE UNTRUE, SAYS A. S. COLYAR TO COL. FELDER

hey Don't Say We've Made Out a Case Against You, Sign a Libel Vindicating You and Publishing the ne Over My Signature," Says Man Whom Atlanta wyer Calls "Crook"—Answers Countercharges

S. Colyar asks the publication of following card, in which he defends himself against the charges published Sunday for Colonel T. B. Felder:

Colonel Thomas B. Felder:

I read with a great deal of interest your document in the Sunday morning journal, of explanations, incriminations and denials.

Have too good a lawyer for me to need any suggestions to you as to how you could handle your case, but I will take the liberty to make one suggestion, and that is you have charged Mr. [illegible] and myself with being liars and framers against you. You have answered nothing direct, except positively deny that you offered to bribe any one thousand dollars to [illegible] the papers in the Phagan case.

Now, you know as well as I do, and every other lawyer at the Atlanta bar knows, that when an attorney has a desperate case he attempts to break his case down by abuse and defaming the witnesses against his client. Now, I make you this proposition, viz: I will name a gentleman in this city, such as the Hon. W. Woods White or the Hon. Robert F. Maddox, one of your esteemed friends, though I have no personal acquaintance with Mr. Maddox and a very slight acquaintance with Mr. White, but I know that both gentlemen enjoy the unbounded confidence and respect of the citizens of Atlanta. Let Mr. Feburv name a gentleman of the standing of these two I have mentioned, and you name two gentlemen, and I will only ask that they be men of high moral character and not members of the whisky ring or sporting fraternity.

Let these four gentlemen, when named by you, Mr. Feburv and myself, chose a fifth gentleman to act as the chairman and hear all of the testimony we may see proper to submit to you in charges, and you may eliminate me entirely from testifying in the case.

If they don't say that we have made out our case against you, after hearing all of the testimony in a fair and unbiased way, I am willing to sign a libel vindicating you as to me and publish the same over my signature.

I believe that any fair-minded man or woman would agree that this is a fair proposition, and if you desire to accept it, make it known through the press of the city.

We give you this opportunity to prove that we are liars, blackmailers and framers, as you have charged us with being against you.

And I desire to say further to you, sir, if you have any reputable witnesses by whom you can prove any graft against Captain James L. Beaver and Captain Newport A. Lonford, you will be given an opportunity to bring them before this committee of high toned gentlemen, for if there is any graft in the police department the people ought to know it, and it is your duty as the good citizen you claim to be, to prove what you claim to be at the present time the foulest and most damnable charges ever brought against two officers of the law, who enjoy the confidence of thousands of people in this city.

The most cowardly thing that any man [illegible] is guilty of is to attack a man who [illegible] an officer of the law, sworn to enforce the same, when he knows that their hands are tied and they can not defend their good name.

Now, if you do not care to let a committee of citizens hear these charges and refer for it to go before the grand jury, and you say Mr. Feburv and I have formed a conspiracy against you and are guilty of perjury as well as conspiracy, I challenge you to go before the grand jury with your evidence and get a true bill and we will meet you in the courts and take the consequences of a verdict of twelve honest Georgians.

Instead of starting out and saying you are going to expose a framework and but dodge the real issue before the people that you know in your heart have told nothing but the truth, is not fair play or public right.

In a letter of Sunday morning you named up three affidavits on North Carolina. The courts of Georgia are open to you. Why not go there and prosecute me?

You state in your article that I confessed to you in the Read House at Chattanooga, and begged for mercy, and that you from that time declined to have further dealings with me whatsoever. This is the first time I ever heard of such a confession; I remember when you was in Chattanooga, and I was sitting talking to you in the dining room of the Read House, while you was waiting for the president of the Citizens' National bank to call there to see you, and on your return to Atlanta you called me over long distance telephone and made an appointment for me to meet you in Atlanta and had the Read House cash a draft on you drawn by me for $50 upon your instructions over the telephone, which I can prove.

REFRESHING HIS MEMORY.

It seems strange that you would be sending a self-confessed forger and crook up to meet you in Atlanta.

I note that you also state that you left Sunday night in your office; this is to give you an excuse for telling once. You say that you did not at any other time except Monday in your office with Mr. Felder to refresh your memory. I would say if I didn't meet you on Forsyth in front of the city hall at 8 o'clock Monday, and escorted that you [illegible] come from a conference with [illegible] and if you did not go to my office in the Williams house, if I did not go to my wife and you make the remark that you had had the pleasure of meeting her in Chattanooga? And yet one of our alleged newspapers that has been very busy defending your good name, and painting mine in black, and yet the citizens of this community, has the audacity to publish in their Sunday morning edition a statement that my wife became so disgusted with me that she separated with me at Cave Spring.

This statement is without any foundation whatever, and an alleged representative of this alleged newspaper had the effrontery (fortunately for him that I was absent) to approach my wife in the hotel parlor on Friday night in the presence of another lady and try to scare her to death with threats, which I would hate to believe met your approval.

I wish to say to you, sir, that in any controversy that I might have with you, or any other man, and I become so low and so prostituted that I forget my mother and your mother and our wives, are women, pure, sweet women, of this bright and beautiful southland, and make an attack upon them, I want some one to shoot me as they would a mad dog.

Nothing that you could say or do could cause me to forget myself so far as to invade the sacredness of your home life, and no man worthy of the name of man would do so; yet I am not surprised that a representative of this alleged newspaper would do such a thing when they are so reckless in publishing what they call news. You talk and write about a frame-up, and about a conspiracy, but I wish to state to you that in my humble opinion, as well as in the opinion of many good men in this community, there has been a conspiracy formed against Captain Beavers, Captain Lanford, G. C. Februvery and myself in the last few days, "that would make the star chamber of King Charles the First blush for shame."

AS TO CRITICISMS.

I am really surprised in the bitter attack you have made upon me, when you start that attack by saying that I am an irresponsible creature, in other words that I am an insane man. I am indeed surprised that a gentleman of your standing would make an attack of the kind you have made upon me, if you believe me bereft of my reason. There is not money enough in the state of Georgia to hire me, "poor moral pervert degenerate and irresponsible creature" that you have seen fit to call me, to make an attack upon a woman, child or an irresponsible human being. Perhaps though, colonel, you were in a desperate frame of mind over your experience with the dictograph and forgot yourself. If so, you are excusable. In writing to you on Saturday night I misunderstood your address, Mr. Atchison's name, it had been told to me as Mr. Atherton, and I did not know who your distinguished friend was until Saturday night.

Poor Atchison, he started out in Nashville a few years ago with a brilliant future as a young physician of promise, but now he is in Atlanta, having deserted the medical profession, which of course he had a right to do, and is following another avocation, and according to his own statement he has only been in the city since January 1, last past, and as I take it is a friend of yours he is catering to a little newspaper notoriety; in other words he would like for the citizens of Atlanta to know that he has arrived. I haven't seen this gentleman in fifteen years, but I will explain in a few days to the satisfaction of the public what his grudge is against me.

As for your other character witnesses, I would not dignify them with a reply, though I am exceedingly surprised, when you started out in your denunciation of me that you could get 1,000 people to swear that they would not believe me on oath, that you fell 996 short of your number, and I think that this will conform with about every charge and statement that you have made in your great defense.

SCORES MR. TOBIE.

I would suggest that your royal flunky, Tobie, who evidently has got a sore toe over the recent exposure, go to a drug store and buy a corn plaster. If he can't find one, let him call on the Pinkerton Detective agency to pilot him to the nearest one, and I am satisfied that Mr. Harry Scott would take great pleasure in prompting your royal flunky in his little drama, scene 1, act 1, called "The Mysterious Hunt of the Far-Famed Burns Detective Agency for the Murderer of Mary Phagan." The only thing that is the matter with Mr. Tobie is that he arrived on the stage too late in the drama, as Lanford and Scott already had the evidence to indict Leo M. Frank, as the action of the grand jury has proven.

I read Tobie's attack on me in your afternoon organ, and I also noticed that he laid great stress upon the fact that he was here for business, pure and simple, provided, of course, that the citizens of Atlanta opened up their purses and responded to his call for money, as the Burns agency, according to him, was not in business for their health. No one who is familiar with their recent past experiences doubts Mr. Tobie's assertions, but in Mr. Tobie's call he reminded me of a Pullman porter who had been on a long run all night with only two old maids for passengers, and he knew the tips were scarce, and he was going through the car making a last desperate call for breakfast.

The people of this fair city have never failed to respond to a cry for help when it was a genuine cry, but they are not going to be gulled by a false prophet, who pretends that he has come like "a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness."

Now, sir, if you want to accept the propositions I made, all right. They are made in good faith, and if you prefer to go ahead as you have started out, by abuse and vilification, all right, but remember, there is none of us perfect, "and let him that is without sin cast the first stone."

The influence of women, glorious in the possession of perfect physical health, upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured—but what about the ailing nervous, depressed woman who is a damper to all joyousness in the home and a drag upon her husband? CURED TERRIBLE HUMOR ON FACE

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil. Tells What Resinol Did For Her.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1912.—"In December, 1908, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red, and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which itched me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is, it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description.

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Resinol a trial. I have used three cakes of Resinol Soap and one box and a jar of Resinol Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's. It is about four weeks since the last pimple disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Clemens, 4256 Stiles St.

Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00) and Resinol Soap (25c) but if you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, chafings, sores, or piles, we will cost you nothing to try them before buying. Write, mentioning this paper, to Dept. 26-S Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each.

MUSIC LOVERS ENJOY WAGNERIAN CONCERT

The centenary of the birth of Richard Wagner was ceelbrated by the Atlanta Music Festival association by a Wagnerian grand organ recital by Dr. Percy J. Starnes at teh Auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Several hundred people applauded Wagner's overture to "Rienzi," and "The Evening Star" aria, and the grand march from Tannhauser. "The Jewels of teh Madonna," from the Wolf-Ferrari intermezzo, was played by Dr. Starnes for the first time, and was received with enthusiasm. He also scored a personal triumph in his own composition, "Grand Choeur Triomphale."

The programs were a distinct feature of the concert, carrying a clear description an da short historic setting of each of the overtures, as well as a criticism of the technique and subject matter of each.

Appropriate decorations, consisting of Germa flags intermingled with the stars and stripes, were draped throughout the big auditorium.

Negro Fires at an Officer and Ruins Comrade's Trousers

Officer Preston, of the police force, narrowly escaped death Sunday night, when two shots from the revolver of Charlie Brown, a negro, passed within a few inches of him and cut through the trousers of a negro standing immediately in his rear.

Preston and Officer Wiley were walking along Auburn avenue about 9 o'clock in the evening. Near Fort street a crowd of negroes was blocking the sidewalk. The policemen ordered its members to move on.

One of the negroes, who later gave his name as Charlie Brown, growled, "Huh, I don't know about that!"

As Preston started toward the black, the latter drew a 38-caliber revolver from his hip pocket. He pointed it at Preston's stomach and fired twice.

Preston dodged, the bullets hummed past and ruined a pair of loud check trousers which a darky just behind him was sporting. The two officers overpowered the negro and he was taken to the station house.

SOUTHERN FIRE COMPANIES GET EASTERN RECOGNITION

Charles A. Bickerstaff, secretary and treasurer of the Association of Southern Fire Insurance Companies, has been advised officially that the big eastern financial concerns which lend money for building in the south will not discriminate against southern fire companies in the placing of insurance.

In other words, these companies will not make it their policy to require that the insurance on buildings built with money borrowed from them shall be placed with northern companies. It is customary for a company making such a loan to have the right of specifying where the insurance shall be carried.

Mr. Bickerstaff has corresponded with about sixty big companies in the east. The substance of his replies is this: "We wish you to place us on record in the most unqualified manner as being willing to accept the policies of your companies composing the association."

STRUCK BY BRICK, DOWNS BRINGS $60,000 SUIT

George A. Fuller Company Made Defendant in Damage Suit on Monday

A $60,000 damage suit was filed on Monday by George M. Downs against the George A. Fuller company, who are in charge of the construction of the new Winecoff hotel at the corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets. This amount is asked for as the result of an accident that took place April 24, last, the plaintiff alleges, when he was struck on the head by a piece of brick that was dropped from the eleventh floor of the building.

The petitioner claims that ever since that time he has been flat of his back in a hospital, where it was found necessary to operate on his skull, taking out a large piece of the skull and part of his brain. This caused a partial paralysis of the body, the petitioner claims, and since that time has been without the use of either his right arm or right leg.

Claiming that he is incapacitated as the result, and unable to make a living for himself and wife, the petitioner asks the court to compel the defendant, a foreign company, to pay him the above amount for the loss of his services, which at the time of the accident was that of foreman of the Soper-McDonald company, which had the contract for the steel work on the new building. The petitioner alleges that he is twenty-eight years of age and that his earning capacity is $45 weekly.

Mr. Downs is represented by Attorneys Arnaud and Donehoo.

NOTED
SPEECH SPECIALIST
AT THE
PIEDMONT HOTEL, TUESDAY, MAY 27
BENJ. N. BOGUE, of Indianapolis,
THE MAN WHO CURES
STAMMERING
Was Laughed at Twenty Years Ago Because He Stammered
Now Recognized the World Over as a Public Benefactor, Will Give Free Advice to All
STAMMERERS

From the time Mr. Bogue began to talk in mere childhood he was afflicted so badly with stammering he was almost speechless.

He was handicapped throughout his entire early life. The trouble grew worse with the years, and finally compelled him to leave college, when as a young man he gave promise of becoming a brilliant scholar. He could not recite when called upon, even though he knew perfectly what he desired to say. He could not get employment because he could not ask for it without revealing his infirmity, then they did not want him. Socially he was impossible, because of the faces he made when he tried to converse. His parents spent hundreds of dollars in attempts to correct his speech trouble. He was sent to various institutions and private schools which claimed to be able to cure "Stammering." He even tried all the advertised mail order "cures" of which he read in the papers. But without avail. He was pronounced a "hopeless case" by eminent specialists, and was turned out into the world to pass the balance of his life in gloom. Stammering had taken all the joy out of his childhood. It marked his youth with sober melancholy. He began to realize that his youth was slipping away from him and that the years spreading before him held no hopes of better things. Stammering was ruining his life.

With characteristic determination and energy he set about the arduous task of mastering the principles of voice and speech for himself. He studied for years, reading everything that pertained to the subject of voice culture. These principles he applied to his own case, resulting in a complete and permanent cure. Mr. Bogue is today one of the clearest speakers and most fluent talkers in the professional world.

The result of this wonderful scientific achievement soon became known far and wide. It was commented upon in the public press. It put an entirely new light upon the heretofore sadly neglected subject of Stammering. Mr. Bogue was entreated to do for others afflicted as himself the same service he had rendered himself.

Mr. Bogue has made the cure of Stammering his life profession. He is personally associated with many stammerers every day. He often examines as many as one-hundred cases in a single day. He has met, examined and diagnosed, personally, nearly twelve thousand cases during his life; personally and by mail he has diagnosed nearly twenty-five thousand, and he has corresponded with almost one hundred thousand persons who are afflicted with the widespread speech trouble. Through his careful research he has learned all the peculiarities of speech difficulty. He understands every phase of stammering. He has probably examined and dealt with more cases than any other man of the present century or at any time during past history. His wide personal experience has made him known in America and in Europe as the foremost authority on Stammering and Stuttering.

Mr. Bogue is the author of several books on Stammering, an educator of note, and the founder and Principal of The Bogue Institute for Stammerers at Indianapolis, which is always crowded. He states emphatically that "Stammering cannot be cured by mail any more than typhoid fever." His method, purely natural, involves no drugs, no medicines, no hypnotism, no surgery. It is simply the application of educational principles to the fundamental cause of Stammering. He has mastered the secrets which underlie defective speech. He has cured hundreds at this Institution. The cure is absolutely certain.

A few months ago Mr. Bogue was stopping at the Hollenden Hotel at Cleveland, where he was attending some personal business. No sooner had his presence become generally known than scores of stammerers called at the hotel to see him and get the benefit of his advice. So great was the crowd that Mr. Bogue was unable to see more than one in every four of those who called.

Recently when Mr. Bogue was in St. Louis, people learning of his visit there, traveled upwards of 300 miles to secure his personal opinion, examination and the advice of this famous speech expert.

Mr. Bogue will be at the Piedmont Hotel, Atlanta, May 27, for one day only, and will meet personally and privately persons of this vicinity desiring to confer with him on the subject of Stammering, who may call between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M. and between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening. He will make a complete examination and thorough diagnosis of each case, and tell whether or not the case can be cured, and if it can, how long it probably will require and how much it will cost.

And, remember, he will not accept a case as a student at his Institute unless he is certain that he can effect a positive and permanent cure. But he doesn't ask any stammerer to take his word for this. He gives a written guarantee, with satisfactory security. Therefore, persons that Mr. Bogue accepts as students assume no risks whatever.

But at this time Mr. Bogue only wants to see every stammerer of this locality face to face, to talk with them personally, and to give to them the best of his advice. There will be no charge whatever for consultation or advice for those calling at the hotel during Mr. Bogue's stay in Atlanta, which ought to prove of tremendous value to all persons who Stammer or Stutter. Stammerers, without a single exception, should at least call on Mr. Bogue and get a copy of his new book, a valuable volume of 64 pages, explaining the causes and cure of Stammering and Stuttering, which he will give away absolutely free. Mr. Bogue treats every case that is brought to his attention sacredly confidential. No one need have fear of embarrassment or publicity.

Remember, any stammerer can secure the advantage of a private interview with the world's greatest speech specialist without one penny of expense and without the slightest obligation. This is an opportunity that may never come again to the people of Atlanta, and it is expected that scores of stammerers will take advantage of it.

BOLL WEEVIL INVASION OF GEORGIA IN AUGUST

Arch Enemy of Cotton Expected in Southwest Part of State Soon

That the invasion of Georgia by the boll weevil is only a matter of two months is the assertion made Monday morning by State Entomologist E. Lee Worsham.

The march of King Cotton's arch enemy eastward has progressed more rapidly than ordinarily in consequence of the unusually mild weather, and the pest is expected to reach the southwest part of Georgia during the early part of August, according to Mr. Worsham.

Unless all signs fail, the first counties to be reached will be Clay, Early, Decatur and Miller. It is possible that even more progress into the state may be made and already the farmers in that section have leagued together to fight the pest.

"The weevil," said Mr. Worsham, "will reach that part of the state in ample time to do great damage, and probably will destroy from a third to a half of this season's crop of cotton. The advance into other parts of Georgia will, of course, be gradual, but eventually the entire cotton belt will become infected.

"In addition to the boll weevil, the farmers in southwest Georgia have organized to fight it, and, if they persevere, can keep down the damage materially. They have been urged to plant cotton that matures early, so that the bolls will have formed before the insect comes out from its winter quarters.

"It is a fact that it can be fought successfully, but ideal farming is essential to that success.

"The cotton caterpillar is also on its way here, but its dangers and ravages are checked infinitely more easily than those of the boll weevil. It is the latter that the farmers of Georgia must guard against, and to be successful it is absolutely necessary to carry out instructions to the letter."

CHIEF BEAVERS WILL ASK GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION

was going to take her mother to live with her.

"I told her if she conducted herself properly and violated no law, and if the neighbors made no objection, I could see no reason to the contrary. She had to live somewhere. But I told her that first I would take the matter up with Chief Beavers.

"I asked him to come to my office, and he came the next day. Saturday morning. I laid the matter before him just as I have stated it above.

"He told me practically what I told her, namely, that if she conducted herself properly and didn't violate the law, and if the neighbors made no object, he could see no reason for her not to live there. In fact, he said that so long as she did this, he would have no authority to remove her. But he said (and I agree, agreed with him) that if she went there and started a disorderly house, then he would close her house at once.

HAS NOT HINDERED HIM.

"That was all there was to it so far as I was concerned. I placed the matter entirely in his hands. And that has been my attitude along in this vice crusade. I've left it up to him. I haven't put a straw in his way. I haven't hindered him and I haven't helped him. I've left it for him to handle.

"I don't intend to interfere with his program in the slightest. Except this, that I have tried to insist with him that he ought to clean up the central part of town, whatever else he did, so that ladies could walk the streets without being insulted.

"The public demands this of Chief Beavers, as well as myself.

"Now, as to Febuary. The same thought occurred to me, while we were holding over there in the Williams house, that the chief suggests. That is, I thought to myself that if Febuary was telling the truth when he charged graft in the police department, he ought to be forced to follow the matter to a finish.

"The only fuing that kept me from having him arrested then and there was that I didn't want to do the police department an injustice. I was willing and wanted first to give him an opportunity to show what he had in the way of evidence.

"I knew that by waiting I'd find out whether he had evidence, or whether he was being used as a tool by his superior officers in a plot of some kind.

"So I directed him if he had any evidence to turn it over to Mr. Ed Miles.

"If I had thought that was to be our last meeting, you may be sure he wouldn't have got away. I would have had him taken in custody right then, and made him show what he had, or else confess that he was lying.

"If Febuary went into this thing on his own motion, knowing there was no evidence of graft, then he ought to be discharge for slandering his department.

"If he did it at the direction of Langford and Beavers, then it brands them all three as being unfit for the positions they hold. For anybody that would engage in such dirty work is a disgrace to the police department."

Dorsey and Beck Won't Discuss Jury Probe

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey refuses to make any statement relative to the grand jury and the Felder-Beavers-Langford-Woodward-Colyar controversy.

Mr. Dorsey retains his same attitude, and says that all matters that come to him through the proper channels are investigated and the name of every person properly committed to the grand jury is put before it.

Lewis H. Beck, foreman of the present grand jury, when asked if the solicitor failed or refused to put the matter before the jury, would he as foreman exercise his initiatory powers and commence a probe, said:

"Wait and see what the grand jury does."

In the course of his conversation with a reporter, however, Mr. Beck referred frequently to action taken of its own initiative by past grand juries on which he has served.

Although it is customary for the grand jury to meet each Friday on routine matters, the criminal division of the superior court, Judge L. S. Roan presiding, is in session this week, and for that reason the solicitor general, when the jury adjourned Saturday, stated that there would be no meeting this week unless a matter of which he then had no knowledge necessitated a called meeting.

ATTEAUX EMPLOYED BY WOOD DURING STRIKE

Alleged Dynamite "Planter" Shows in Trial That Woolen Mills Employed Him

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, May 26.—The defense showed its hand for the first time today when it got into the records evidence that Frederick E. Atteaux, recipient of the American Wool company's checks was legitimately employed by the company, and was not as the state alleges, a co-conspirator with President William M. Wood and Dennis J. Collins in "planting" dynamite at Lawrence during the textile strike.

Cross examined by counsel for Wood, Treasurer William H. Dwelly, Jr., of the woollen company, who on Friday testified to checks given to Atteaux in consideration of "expenses incurred relative to the strike," testified that Atteaux acted as a messenger between Wood and various agents of the company on perfectly proper matters. Dwelly further stated that Atteaux did not wish to receive the reimbursement, but it was forced upon him by Wood, who had said that he did not wish to be under obligation to the dye manufacturer.

BRAND NEW "POPE" GOT AWAY WITH HILL CLIMB

Cycle That Won Amateur Event Saturday Afternoon Fresh From Factory

It was a brand new "Pope" motorcycle that ran away with the first honor in the amateur event for motorcycles, out at the Stewart avenue hill climb Saturday afternoon.

G. L. Singleton was riding it, and made the hill in 57 4-5 seconds. L. S. Crane, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Pope-Hartford company, said that he had uncrated the machine with his own hands Friday afternoon, and that it had never been on the hill until Saturday morning. It went through the race, said he, without a chance in fear or anything else. There had been no time to make any adjustment, said he. Eight more cycles like it will be delivered this week to the county police.

Second honor in this vent was won by E. A. Owen, on an Indian. The other amateurs in order were L. S. Peek, Indian; F. A. Barr, Thor; Wylie, Excelsior.

In the professional event, the winner was Ed L. Wilcox, on an Indian, in 54 4-5 seconds. The other runners in order were Harry J. Glenn, on an Indian; O. R. Lancaster, on a Thor, and F. A. Barr, on a Thor.

SAYS COURTS MOVE FAST IN FULTON

The wheels of justice move rapidly in Fulton county, according to Judge G. C. Abernathy, an Oklahoma jurist, who spent several hours Monday on the bench with Judge L. S. Roan, yatching the criminal division of the superior court in action.

Judge Abernathy, who came to Atlanta as a commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., saw a jury chosen to hear a negro murder trial in half an hour.

"It would have taken a day at least in Oklahoma just to pick the jury," Judge Abernathy said.

The jurist stated that frequently it took a full week to get a jury in a hotly contested murder trial.

PRESBYTERIAN NEGRO, ILL HERE, A WORKER

Atlanta Presbyterians are showing great interest in the case of Sam Daley, a negro, who is seriously ill at the Grady hospital, having been stricken on the day he came to Atlanta as a commissioner to the U. S. Presbyterian assembly.

According to Dr. S. L. Morris, secretary of the home mission board of the Southern Presbyterian church, Daley is one of the south's wonderful negroes. He is in charge of a farm in Alabama, Dr. Morris says, where, through taking charge of convicted negroes, he has converted over 200 by working them on the farm instead of leaving them in prison.

FLORIDA HOUSE VOTES BONDS FOR EVERGLADES

$6,000,000 Bond Issue Will Be Floated for Drainage if Senate Approves

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 26.—The feature in the house today was the passage of the drainage bond bill, authorizing the state to bond for $6,000,000 for drainage purposes. Representative Worley, from the drainage district, stated in explanation of his vote, and then he failed to vote, that there had been a good deal of newspaper comment concerning his attitude on the bill.

"I am personally and individually very much opposed to this bill," he said.

"I believe it to be inadequate, but I have here on my desk a petition from 90 per cent of the voters of my county, and I conceive it to be my duty to carry out the will of the people. I am a public servant, and while I believe that the will of the people in this instance is prominently in error I still regard the will of the people as supreme. My people are a unit on this proposition and I am merely their mouthpiece."

The administration steam roller was worked, and the bill passed by a vote of 49 to 7.

Those on the nay honor roll were Dupree, Gorman, High, Langford, O'Neil, Taylor and Tully.

It is not thought that the bill will pass the senate. Gornton stated on the floor of the house that the state was liable for any obligation contracted by the board of trustees and that he had information that it would require $80,000,000 to drain the Everglades.

Only Twelve Per Cent Of Girls Fall Because Wages Are So Little

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 26.—Economic conditions or low wages are responsible for not more than 12 per cent of all cases of immorality among girls and women, in the opinion of Prof. Graham Taylor, head of Chicago Commons Social Settlement, who was a witness today before the senate vice commission.

"This commission could not do more valuable work than to recommend the abolition of the bar permit to the public dance hall," said Prof. Taylor.

F. C. Jones, president of the United States Broom and Brush company, which employes fifty-three women in its factory, told the commission that he thought $7.50 would be a fair minimum wage for women.

AUTHORITIES PROBING LONG BEACH DISASTER

Question of Responsibility for Death of Thirty-Six Persons to Be Fixed

(By Associated Press.)

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 26.—Evidence to be presented Thursday at the inquest over the thirty-six persons who lost their lives in the collapse Saturday of a portion of the municipal pier will bear directly upon the question of who was responsible for the condition of the structure.

One of the principal witnesses before the coroner's jury will be James Twombly, member of the Long Beach board of public works, who, according to Mayor Hatch and his colleagues on the board works, was charged with the duty of inspecting public buildings.

Daughters of the Empire and Sons of St. George, the two principal organizations which had charge of the Empire day celebration, started a relief campaign today.

While those seriously hurt numbered not more than sixty-five, nearly 200 were injured so that aid will be given them.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

ATLANTA—"St. Elmo."
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and pictures.

Maggie Cline, the famous "Irish Queen," headlines the bill at the Forsyth this week, and her engagement is one of the positive events of the season. Miss Cline is famous as a singing comedienne, and has been before the public longer than has anyone of the theatrical profession, with the possible exception of Sarah Bernhardt, who recently complimented the famous Irish character by declaring that she occupies the same position in varieties that Bernhardt does in the dramatic field. Miss Cline is a favorite in all of the cities in which she appears, and on this, her first appearance in Atlanta in modern vaudeville, it is anticipated that her reception and success will eclipse most anything of the sort that has been recorded here.

The rest of the bill should prove to be an attraction of merit. The Great Howard, Scott ventriloquist and comedian; Madden and Fitzgerald, a splendid novelty act; Caesar Nesi, "The Caruso of New York's East Side;" the Equill Brothers in equilibristic stunts; Kirk and Fogarty in chatter and songs, and Carl Rosine and company in comedy and magic, should make a show of the high standard established by the Forsyth.

Joseph E. Howard's "The District Leader," a musical comedy tabloid with ewtnty people including a cast of excellent principals and a chorus of pretty girls, will be the attraction for this week at the Bijou theater.

There will be two matinee performances Monday and Saturday, and two performances each night during the week. There will also be daily matinees on other days in the week.

"The District Leader" has won a successful campaign this season, appearing in the principal theaters that recently have been devoted to tabloid. It comes to Atlanta with the indorsement of the managers and critics in the circuit.

There are new music, attractive scenery and becoming wardrobe.

The admission to the Bijou continues at 10 cents, reserved seats at 10 cents extra.

Monday begins the sixth week of the Billy Long Stock company at the Atlanta. Celebrating this event the company will present what has been voted the most popular play ever seen here, namely "St. Elmo." This play was selected by the audiences at the Atlanta two weeks ago and is being presented because of its popularity and its sweetness. The first performance will be given Monday afternoon at a 25-cent matinee. The play will remain all the week, being given every night, with other matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Miss Long, Mr. Vail and other members of the company have been rehearsing the play for a week, and its production is sure to be pleasing.

PLAYERS' CLUB PUTS OFF PRESENTATION TO JUNE 3

The Players' club announces that their presentation of "The Importance of Being Earnest" has been postponed from May 30 to June 3.

Tobie Tried to Kidnap Incubator Baby, Says Topeka Police Official

That the past career and record of C. W. Tobie, the Burns investigator who came to Atlanta to probe the Phagan mystery for Colonel Thomas B. Felder, is being investigated by the local police is shown by a telegram received by Chief of Police J. L. Beavers Monday morning.

The telegram was from the chief of police of Topeka, Kan., and reads as follows:

"Tobie tried to kidnap incubator baby at Sedan, Kan., but failed, being employed by Detective Tillotson. Subsequently Tillotson kidnaped the child at Topeka and was convicted, but Tobie was not connected with Topeka kidnaping.

"J. W. F. HNGHES,

FAVORABLE CROP REPORTS CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 11 to 14 Points Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 3 to 9 points and sold 8 to 11 points net lower right after the call on disappointing sales. A favorable report of the weather map and encouraging private crop accounts. The outlook was for clear and reasonable conditions in the belt, and selling was quite active at the start. Offerings were well absorbed, taking to give the market a fairly steady undertone at the decline, however, and subsequent fluctuations were dependent on trade buying. The estimate for tomorrow's receipts at New Orleans was supposed to foreshadow increased shipments from there.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points on poor cables and favorable weather, the map showing a fair and warm week over the entire cotton region. The support that was so conspicuous last week was not in evidence in the early trading, and short offerings of December cotton which the ring did not take any too well. The forecast of continued fair weather for the greater part of the belt was considered very favorable. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 8 points under Saturday's close.

Throughout the morning the market received many telegrams and letters from nearly all sections of the belt representing weather conditions as being almost perfect. These and rather high prices crop reporting bureau figures on condition had the effect of causing the trade to entertain more bearish influences than last week concerning the pending crop prospects and condition. While short selling was by no means heavy there was not much outside buying for long account and the market gradually worked lower, standing at its noon at a decline of 11 to 13 points.

COTTON GOSSIP

Washington—Long range forecast: Unsettled weather will open the coming week throughout the country east of the Mississippi river, with showers this afternoon Monday and Tuesday in the great central valleys and the lake region; the middle and last part of the week promises fair to the middle Atlantic states and New England. For the south and northwest east of the extreme central west, present indications favor fair weather generally. In the northwest showers in the middle of the week should make it generally pleasant. It will be warmer in the south, but there are no indications that it will become unseasonably warm weather over any portion of the country. Temperature for the week beginning in the interior of New England and eastern New York, and low temperatures will continue over the lake region and the northern and eastern portions of the country, followed by warmer weather in the middle of the week.

Dallas wires: Texas, clear and pleasant. Oklahoma, fair and warmer.

Weather map very favorable. Shows cloudy in Oklahoma, east Tennessee. Fair over entire west half of belt. Rain in north with warmer weather with normal night minimums.

Forecast:

Louisiana: Tonight and Tuesday increasing cloudiness; not much change in temperature; light variable winds on the coast.

Arkansas: Unsettled; showers tonight or Tuesday.

Oklahoma: Tonight and Tuesday generally fair.

East Texas: Tonight and Tuesday generally fair; cooler tonight in northwest portion; light southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas: Tonight and Tuesday generally fair; cooler tonight in northwest portion.

Georgia, North and South Carolina and Alabama: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

Kentucky: Showers tonight or Tuesday.

Tennessee: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight.

Mississippi: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January, 11.22; March, 11.35; July, 11.61; August, 11.41; October, 11.08.

10 a. m. bids in New Orleans were: January, 11.22; March, 11.35; July, 11.64; August, 11.45; October, 11.20.

Special reports to Journal of Commerce show acreage increasing in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. Condition generally better than a year ago. Mississippi, 94; Louisiana, 98; Arkansas, 98. Stand reports mostly good; cold weather and lack of rain caused poor stands in Arkansas. Continued generally favorable rains make much improvement. In Mississippi the percentage condition is 4 points lower than a year ago, when it was 72.3. In Louisiana the condition is several points lower than a year ago, when it was 75. Georgia commissioner of agriculture, J. J. Brown, reports condition of cotton on April 30 per cent in his May crop report. While there is a decrease of 4 per cent in cotton acreage, compared with last year, there is a slight increase in the acreage planted in corn and small grains.

Montgomery a large buyer on the call; said to be for the account of the Bell Brothers. Brokers representing spot interests were buying July and selling October, which declined to 58 on favorable map and the belief that the short interest has been reduced to a great extent.

Habersham King says: Consider the week's developments favorable for the growing crop of the belt, and a tand-off as to the remaining one to five cent. Should rains continue conditions will be very favorable.

Man indicates partly cloudy except fair in Mississippi, Louisiana and partly cloudy scattered showers in northern part of belt and the Atlantics.

Hing seems to be getting more and more short; also short selling on Cordill report and good weather over the belt. Market looks lower.

Waters, Wilson and Hachfeld been principal support. Spot interests in New Orleans is trying to sell and a lower market is looked for.

San Antonio writes:—Crop reports are improving this section and the plant is now making rapid growth. Rains are general over the belt west of here, where no rains have fallen. This section received from San Antonio to and including Beeville section and west from there. The good rain we had here records amounting to 1.90 in the city did not extend ten miles south and southeast of the city, but did extend west and north. The dry section looks anything but a good chance for early movement, while this immediate section has a present handicap of two or three weeks.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co.—Say: Weather throughout the spring belt was more wintry and unfavorable, ample moisture having fallen and bear some reports of damage to winter wheat. Shorts cover freely on Saturday and we are inclined to look for a moderate setback in prices today.

Corn—Weather in corn belt generally wet, which is favorable in places where seeding is practically finished. But will tend to delay planting in places. For the time being we can-not prefer sales on hard spots.

Provisions—We continue to follow the advance in the market any further in fact, would favor taking profits. The country is offering freely and we look for a sharp reaction during the near future.

B. W. Snow wires from St. Louis: Drore through St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph and Washington counties. Some fields of wheat. Rain needed, but crops not suffering. Heavy local selling in wheat this session. Corn is in good shape and generally planted. Oats poor. Rains inadequate in this section.

HAYWARD & CLARK'S COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—News and weather developments were fairly evenly balanced during the market which weakened in consequence to-day. Receipts were very large and showed about 4 points lower than due on new crops, while the Liverpool cables, a total 10,200 bales, at 2 points lower quotations.

The market weakened materially in the last hour; closing 8 to 9 points lower. The weather map this morning shows very favorable conditions. Fair over nearly the entire belt; much warmer. Minimum temperatures normal except in the Carolinas and east Tennessee; no rain. Indications are for partly cloudy and warmer except in the northwestern quarter, where they are for local showers and cooler, probably some scattered showers in the northern part of the belt. Rain is needed in spots.

Political news is unfavorable. Italy has decided to resume military operations in Tripoli, increasing the financial burden of the country and injuring trade.

Spot cotton has worked lower today under the influence of good crop reports, but particularly the dry and warmer weather over the belt, which is much needed. Trading in new crops settled around 11 points lower. Tomorrow's weekly weather report is expected to be mixed in character owing to the recent good spell. The Journal of Commerce's forecast of tomorrow on the western states is expected favorable and unless weather interferes with preparation to look for a bureau 3 to 5 points higher report. Last year should manifest itself in a tendency to ease.

COMMERCIAL APPEAL'S CROP REPORT.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 26.—Commercial-Appeal crop report for May 25 says: Stand condition 2.9. The crop is earlier than last year and better than the average. In the eastern section of the belt, where dry weather has been prevalent for the last two weeks, the entire belt the land is in almost perfect state of cultivation, and fields are clean. Planting is generally healthy and vigorous, principal drawback is in way of imperfect stands which farmers are setting to replanting. The general condition is lowered materially by the low figures in Arkansas, Louisiana and Carolinas, where dry weather has prevented germination of seed, which caused very poor stands. Rains inadequate in this section.

By states: Texas, acreage increased 5.5, condition 97. Oklahoma increased 2 per cent, 96; Louisiana increased 20 per cent, 90; Arkansas decreased 2 per cent, 98; Tennessee 2 per cent, 96; Mississippi increased 1, 95. Alabama increased 1, 96; Florida decrease 4, 72; South Carolina unchanged, 74; North Carolina increased 2, 76.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET HEAVY IN LATE TRADING

Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading, Southern Pac., Can and St. Paul Lead

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—Prices showed an irregular tendency at the opening of today's stock market, with material gains however, in such active issues as the Hartman stocks, Lehigh Valley and American Can, St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred also rose over a point. Some heaviness was shown by Reading, Rock Island, Canadian Pacific and Tennessee Copper.

Profit taking in the Hartman stocks and selling at other points caused a short reaction. Canadian Pacific fell 2 points and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Ohio and the Rock Island shares a point or more. St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred declined 2¼ points. Absence of confirmatory developments in the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific separation and other constructive developments caused a degree of heaviness to the early session of today's dealings. The Harriman stocks and a few other prominent issues made gains at the outset, but these were soon effaced by selling, much of which was attributed to profit taking by the short interest.

The Canadian San Francisco second preferred, which opened with a smart advance, soon fell back to a level approximating its recent low record.

Bonds, steady.

Union Pacific received another set back at noon upon publication of April earnings, showing a very nominal gross increase and a fairly large loss in net, everywhere the market continued dull and heavy.

The trading was without noteworthy change in the later dealings, the leaders holding back from any pronounced movement, awaiting outcome of matters at Washington, where the supreme court has its session.

The dullness of the last hour was relieved by a sharp advance of 7 points in Virginia-Carolina preferred, the only feature in a list reflecting lowest prices of the season. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading and St. Paul reflected further pressure.

AGNES SCOTT BEGINS 1913 COMMENCEMENT

Dr. C. R. Erdman, of Princeton, Preached Baccalaureate Sermon—Glee Club, Monday

Agnes Scott college commencement is now on at Decatur, the baccalaureate sermon being delivered in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning by Rev. Dr. Charles H. Erdman, of Princeton Theological seminary, Princeton, N. J. It was found necessary to hold this exercise in the church rather than the college chapel, in order to accommodate the large number of students in attendance upon Agnes Scott college, their friends and families. Dr. Erdman's sermon was one of power and beauty on the book of Ruth.

The exercises incident to commencement were begun at Agnes Scott college on last Thursday and Friday, when from 4 to 6 p. m. each day the art exhibit was open to the friends and families of the college, and student body and was largely attended. On Saturday night a song recital was given under the direction of the music department of the college.

The commencement exercises will be continued Monday night when the annual Glee club concert will be held. This is always a big event which is largely attended. On Tuesday evening the annual celebration of the Literary societies will be held at which time there will be a debate on the subject, "Resolved, the Panama Canal Should Be Free," will be handled by these two societies.

The graduating exercises will take place on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock when the annual prizes will be awarded and distributed. There are sixteen graduates in the class of 1913, coming from all sections of the south and are as follows:

Grace Lydia Anderson, Decatur, Ga.; Olivia Ruth Bozacki, Montgomery, Ala.; Alle Garnier Candler, Atlanta, Ga.; Kate Hutcheson Clark, Montgomery, Ala.; Frances Duke, Quitman, Ga.; Mary Lois Enzor, Troy, Ala.; Elizabeth Frances Joiner, Hawkinsville, Ga.; Janie Wood McGaughey, Atlanta, Ga.; Mary Louisa Manget, Decatur, Ga.; Emma Pope Moss, Marietta, Ga.; Almira Eleanor Pinkston, Greenville, Ga.; Margaret Roberts, Valdosta, Ga.; Lavalette Kennedy Sloan, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Florence Smith, Atlanta, Ga.; Laura Mei Towers, Birmingham, Ala.; Helen Maud Smith, Wauchula, Fla.

HITS CORPORATIONS FOR MEDDLING IN POLITICS

R. C. Alston, Counsel for the Southern Express Co., Scores "Despotic Servants"

Corporations that seek to meddle in politics were criticised severely by Robert C. Alston, general counsel for the Southern Express company, in his address to the students of the Atlanta Law school and the members of the Atlanta bar Saturday evening.

The speaker was introduced by Dean Hamilton Douglas as one of the first graduates of the Atlanta Law school and now one of the most successful corporation lawyers in the south.

At the beginning of his remarks Mr. Alston declared that the public is tired of a despotic class of servants. "There is an irrepressible tendency on the part of some corporations to meddle in politics, and most voters are too busy with their private business to resent the gradual aggression of self-seeking corporations," said the speaker.

Mr. Alston argued that the constitution of the United States is nearly all commercial, and that the bill of human rights was embraced in the amendments. He said that congress regulates commerce of all character, and that volumes of laws are based upon these few words in the constitution, "Congress shall have the power to regulate commerce between the several states."

Mr. Alston touched upon corporations whose operations in restraint of trade are declared illegal, and said that he believed that the smaller manufacturers do not know really whether they operate in defiance of law or not.

"The idea of state's rights was knocked into a cocked hat by the employers' liability act," declared Mr. Alston. "The federal government can now dictate to trains running between points in different states as to headlights, brakes and the rates they shall charge," continued the speaker.

Dean Hamilton Douglas explained at the finish of his remarks that Mr. Alston had offered the yearly prize of a gold medal to the member of the graduating class of the Atlanta Law school who writes the best thesis on some phase of interstate commerce. The subject this year was "The Civic Rights Cases."

Kinemacolor Actress Writes About Colors in Moving Pictures

LINDA A. GRIFFITH.

BY LINDA A. GRIFFITH.

It is little more than two years since the Kinemacolor lectures were shown first to the American public. These pictures, as we all know, were of the coronation of King George, of England, and the Durbar festivities in India.

How often in the days before this wonderful discovery I had said to myself: "Oh, if the colors would only show in the picture." But I never dreamed how soon my wishes would come true.

I don't suppose it is very generally known that a moving picture actor is ever afflicted with stage fright, not camera fright, for when working we never think of the camera. But, when we are gathered together in our own little theater, that is, in the projecting room where pictures are first shown to the acting company, the lights turned out, and the pictures to be seen for the first time, then it is we sometimes have cold chills and nervous twitches. We know that what is locked up in the little box of film is there to stay for keep, and we have no way of improving our second performance.

One day last summer I was to see myself in Kinemacolor for the first time. With added fear and trembling I approached the ordeal. The picture was thrown on the screen, and there was the exact shade of hair and eyes, the true flesh tints—it was almost spooky, even a little string of pink beads about my neck, why, there they were just as pink as could be!

Now, along with the day's work, there is added the study of color schemes. We must consult each other as to the color of this or that particular hat or gown to be worn, for those working in the same scenes must never let colors clash. We must even consider the wall paper and furniture and tapestries that make up the stage setting. The days when a man could combine brown shoes with full evening dress and appear correctly dressed on the screen are no more.

The points that can be made in a story with the help of color are many: A man is wounded. We lift a torn sleeve, there is red blood on his arms, not a black smudge. You can even write a farce around color. The Kinemacolor company has produced one such, called "The Lady in the Red Coat." In bright, joyful scenes, gay color in costume cannot fail to accentuate the joyousness. Equally there must be no jarring note of color in a deathbed scene. Scenes whose thought are in a minor key can be wonderfully strengthened by the right suggestion of color.

DR. MEMMINGER SCORES SOCIETY'S LAX MORALS

All Saints' Pastor Raps Paint and Powder and Arraigns Divorce Evil

Rev. W. W. Memminger, pastor of All Saints' church, in a sermon Sunday morning, said that "thousands of people in Atlanta are living the sort of life that the murderer of Mary Phagan lived—the sort that culminated in the terrible crime.

"The laxity of present-day morals was the theme of Dr Memminger's discourse, and he took occasion to score society at numerous different angles.

"Paint and powder for centuries have symbolized a certain type of woman whom I need not designate specifically," said he.

"Yet the woman who uses paint and powder, who wears suggestive clothing, and who dances the turkey trot, is not so blameworthy as the man, boasting of the greater strength of his sex, who tore down woman's standard of purity instead of upholding and protecting virtue.

"The besetting sin of today is not so much the love of money or the disregard of the poor, as it is the love of women and the ease with which we yield to the flesh.

"The enormous disregard of the marriage vow, as indicated in daily newspaper accounts of divorce suits, has compelled many of the world's deep thinkers to debate seriously the whole system of marriage as we know it."

In conclusion, Dr. Memminger declared that the only hope for society is the religious life.

FLOWERS GIVEN TO SICK AND PRISONERS SUNDAY

Over 1,000 bouquets of flowers were distributed among various local hospitals and charitable institutions Sunday afternoon by members of the First Christian church. This is the custom that was established a year ago at the church, the day being known as Flower day.

In the morning the flowers were placed in the front of the church and around the choir loft. The subject of Dr. L. O. Bricker's sermon was, "The Lilies, How They Grow."

During all the afternoon the church members were busy taking their offerings to the jails, the hospitals, and other institutions, to distribute them.

You need only three minutes to make a perfect bisque from Campbell's Tomato Soup.

Making tomato bisque used to involve much time and labor. But with this favorite Campbell kind at hand, all you have to do is add a small pinch of baking-soda to the contents of the can; heat it in a stewpan; heat separately a canful of milk; mix them; bring them to boiling-point and serve. Don't let them boil.

You'll have a far more delicious bisque than you could ever make in the old way with all its trouble and fuss.

Try it tonight and see.

AS IN THE DAYS OF THE SIXTIES

The above is a quaint sketch drawn from a recent photograph of Miss Helen Watkins, of Chattanooga, sponsor for the Tennessee division, Sons of Confederate veterans. The design of the artist was to show how this charming Tennessee girl would have appeared in the fifties and sixties. Miss Watkins will be one of the most attractive young girls at the Chattanooga reunion.

THE EVENING STORY

THE STAR BOARDER

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

CAROL did not like the last boarder that her mother had taken. The others were a comfortable, easy going sort, mostly boys from the factory; a tired bookkeeper, who used the greater part of his salary keeping a tubercular sister in the country; old Mrs. Simkins, whose high-toned daughters-in-law preferred to pay her board elsewhere to having her live with them; old Mr. Hardy, whose daughters and sons had all died, leaving the lonely old man to be glad of a home with Carol's comfortable, jolly mother, whose pancakes were believed to be a panacea for all ills—just common folks, not blessed with much money, not weighted with airs.

None of them cared if the table cloth was not spotless, or if Carol forgot the requisite number of spoons. But Herbert Amsley was different. He was the new manager of the factory, and chose the nearest boarding house. Carol didn't want him to come that first day when she opened the door at his ring, and saw him, well groomed, in neat gray tweed and gloved. The men whom Carol knew best only wore gloves when the cold weather demanded it.

"He'll be particular, mother," she protested. "He looked at my apron—it wasn't so very soiled, either. I wish you could see the way he looked!".

"Slush!" scolded Carol's mother indifferently. "He was mighty willing to get that nice, clean front room, and he said just plain victuals suited him. You're too chuck full of notions. Run down to the kitchen and tell Liza to make fresh biscuits for supper. And then take some towels up to the front room, and tell him supper is prompt at 6:30."

Carol set her lips in a sullen line which almost spoiled their beauty. She was a pretty girl, with dark brown hair and eyes that were not quite black, but as full of fire as a topaz. The boys from the factory never cared whether Carol's aprons were fresh or not. She went down and told Liza about the biscuits and took the clean towels to the front room on the second floor. Mr. Amsley was not there. His trunk, still strapped, stood in the middle of the room. It was a massive, expensive looking trunk, the sight of which increased Carol's dislike. It seemed to smack of its owner's snobbishness. The other boarders had shabby trunks.

As a boarder Mr. Amsley gave very little trouble. He came unobtrusively to his meals and had little to say. He seldom joined the others in the big, shabby parlor in the evenings, but went instead to his room.

Carol did not want him to join them in the parlor. Somehow his presence made her tongue-tied. Something in his dapper appearance made her conscious of her roughened hands. His keen gray eyes had a way of taking her in, from head to foot, as though she were a curiosity; or so she felt. His immaculate grooming offended her.

The boys seemed to like him. At least they didn't mind helping a fellow get a raise. But he formed no intimacies and preferred to get companionship from the big case of books that filled the corner of his room.

Picked Carol Up and Lifted Her Out of the Sticky Mess.

From a noncombative dislike Carol's feelings leaped to positive hate. She neglected him shamefully at the table—for Carol "waited" on the table. She never seemed to hear his courteous request for a second cup of coffee, although the next moment she would be pressing reheated Jim Patterson, who sat next, to have a third cup.

"Now, look here, Carol," said Carol's mother sharply one evening as the boarders filed out of the dining room, "you must stop that contrary business or you'll get your ears boxed some night before every one. Mr. Amsley is paying for what he gets same as other folks; more than some of 'em. And he never stands me off. I ain't going to have him mistreated."

"Never mind," Mr. Amsley broke in amusedly. He had returned to the dining room unobserved by Carol or her mother. "I'm not suffering." he added, "and Miss Carol, of course, can't help having her preferences. We all have them."

Carol fled, furious. His amused tone was patronizing—why, he seemed to infer that she was fond of redheaded Jim Patterson, whom she detested, and who owed her mother four weeks' board.

Sunday afternoon, when the big boarding house was deserted, Carol went down to the kitchen to make some molasses candy. "Now, don't you make a mess," her mother called sleepily from the couch in the back parlor. "Liza will be mad."

Carol shrugged her shoulders. Sunday afternoon was the only time that Liza didn't occupy the kitchen, and Carol was very fond of her own make of candy. Carol had to work fast to get it done before Liza came down to prepare supper. She was just pouring the kettle of sizzling sweetness when heavy steps sounded in the narrow corridor outside. "Dear me!" she murmured. "Why couldn't Liza stay away? I'm not making a mess," she announced crisply, a dishcloth protecting her hand from the hot handle of the kettle. "Now, don't scold."

Apprehensively she looked up and saw Mr. Amsley. Startled, she let the cloth slip, one small forefinger touched the hot porcelain, and then the whole kettle of hot candy splattered to the floor, some on Carol's feet. She shrieked with pain as the stuff went through her thin slippers. Amsley did not shriek, but he hurriedly reached out his arms, picked Carol up and lifted her out of the sticky mess and jerked off her slippers. Then, with a wry face, he pulled off his oxfords.

Carol's shriek had reached upstairs. Her mother came waddling down, followed by Liza. Carol fled from their wrath, and left them to apologize to Amsley and clean the floor.

"Ain't you ashamed?" her mother asked Carol later. "Don't you ever let me catch you making candy down there again. One hour it took us to scrape off the floor. And I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Mr. Amsley would leave. His shoes are spoiled and part of one foot blistered."

"So are mine," cried Carol. She held them out, and her mother forgot her anger in examining the big, angry blisters. In one place the skin was burned off. Carol moaned as the sweet oil touched it and the bandages went around. She lay disconsolately on the couch while supper was being eaten.

The doctor said it might be a week before she could walk. Amsley's hurt proved to be trifling.

"I wish he was turned more," Carol told Liza, who came up while supper was on the table. Liza, like Carol's mother, had soon forgotten her wrath. "It was all his own fault; if he hadn't come down—"

"Ain't you 'shamed!" Liza cried. "What you want for supper, honey?"

"I'm not ashamed," obstinately, "and all I want for supper is some candy."

Liza flung her hands up in the air and majestically left the room. "If your mother ain't spoiled you!" she cried.

Carol turned her face to the wall and cried. Her feet hurt far more than she had admitted to her mother and Liza and she was far more concerned over the amount of resentment that Mr. Amsley was feeling than any one could have drawn from her. She didn't like him—but—

Some one limped into the room. "Well," said Mr. Amsley gayly, "I wish you'd announce beforehand when you intend to scrub the kitchen floor with hot syrup!"

Carol turned quickly. "I'm sorry," she murmured. "Did it hurt much?"

He did not answer. He was unwrapping a big, oblong package. "I think," judicially, putting a ribbon tied box in her hands, "that I'd rather buy you candy than run any more such risks."

Carol took it hesitatingly, flushed and then stammered an apology for her past beavior.

Ten minutes later Liza backed hurriedly out with Carol's supper tray. "I wouldn't worry, ma'am?" she gigglingly reported to Carol's mother, "about losing your star boarder. I think," with another giggle, "he'll stay all his life."

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Reddy Fox knew very well that Bowser the Hound was chained or he never would have dared go so near, for at heart Reddy Fox is a coward. But with Bowser chained Reddy had nothing to fear. He knew that if he could waken Bowser that Bowser would be almost sure to make a great racket, and that would bring Farmer Brown's boy out. That was all Reddy wanted, for that would upset the plan of Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky, the porcupine, to set Unc' Billy Possum free from the box in which Farmer Brown's boy was keeping him a prisoner.

So Reddy stole right up to the very door of the little house in which Bowser the Hound was sleeping and barked sharply. He didn't need to bark but once. Bowser shook himself and scrambled out at once to the full length of his chain. He opened his big mouth to make a great noise and waken Farmer Brown's boy when something happened that made him close it again without making a sound, and do a very strange thing—put his tail between his legs and crawl back into his house.

What do you think it was that happened? Why Prickly Porky, who was gnawing a way out for Unc' Billy Possum, just rattled the thousand spears he carries. That was all. But it was enough for Bowser the Hound. He never had forgotten, and he never would forget, how some of those little spears which he had one time gotten in his mouth had hurt when his master had pulled them out. He didn't want anything more to do with them. If Prickly Porky was out there he would just stay inside and pretend that he hadn't waked up at all.

And this is how it happens that in spite of all Reddy Fox could do nothing happened to upset the plans of Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky. The great, sharp teeth of Prickly Porky soon made a big enough hole in the box in which Unc' Billy Possum was a prisoner for Unc' Billy to crawl through. Then Prickly Porky went to work on the box which held Johnny Chuck's baby Chuck, and soon there was a hole big enough for him to crawl out.

And then something queer happened. What do you think it was? Why, that baby Chuck wouldn't come out. No, sir, he wouldn't come out. Nothing that Jimmy Skunk or Prickly Porky or Unc' Billy Possum could say would tempt him to so much as put his nose outside. He said that he didn't know them, that he was afraid of the dark anyway, and that he was prefectly contented where he was. Finally the others gave it up, and just before daylight they started for the Green Forest, Jimmy Skunk in the lead, then Unc' Billy Possum, and last of all Prickly Porky, with his thousand little spears rattling as he walked. Reddy Fox saw them and black anger filled his heart, for he had no love for any of them.

When in the morning Farmer Brown's boy went out to feed Unc' Billy Possum he gave a long whistle of surprise. At first he thought that Unc' Billy had gnawed his way out. But when he looked closer he saw that the gnawing had been from the outside, and then he was more puzzled than ever. Finally his sharp eyes saw something among the splinters on the ground.

"Ha, ha! So Prickly Porky is Mr. Possum's friend!" he exclaimed as he picked up one of Prickly Porky's little spears.

Just then he thought of the other box in which he had kept the baby Chuck. On the ground all around that lay splinters, too. Farmer Brown's boy really felt bad as he walked over to that box. He had grown to love the baby Chuck, to really love him. He looked into the box. Then he gave a start, rubbed his eyes and looked again. There was the baby Chuck just as usual! He hadn't run away in spite of the big hole inviting him to. Farmer Brown's boy didn't know which surprised him most—to discover that Unc' Billy Possum had escaped or to find the baby Chuck still there when he might have escaped.

NEW ORLEANS CLUB HERE TO PLAY CRACKER CLUB

Elliott Dent Will Likely Work for Crackers, With Swindell Doing Mound Work for Frank's Pelicans

TODAY'S LINE-UP.

Manager Charles Frank and his New Orleans club is with us Monday, opening a three-game series with the Crackers at Ponce de Leon at 3:45 Monday afternoon.

Right now the Pelicans are going very poorly, being at the bottom of the league and showing no indication of climbing higher right at the present time. Frank's team got away to a bad start and have not yet hit their stride, though the chubby leader has been making many changes in an effort to get a strong combination.

With the team are several new faces, while he also has a bunch of stars of past days. This latter class includes Jakey Atz, Frank Manush and Tim Hendryx. Atz and Manush played with the club in the days of long ago, and right now are turning out a rather good class of ball.

Elliott Dent is Manager Smith's selection for the pitching honors, with Bill Chappelle held in reserve. Swindell is the selection of Manager Frank, with the remainder of the line-up the same as usually goes out after games.

Rebel Williams, who was with Atlanta for a short period this season, is doing shortstop work for the Pels. This lad is hitting very hard right at present, but fielding in bad shape.

One game will be played Tuesday and another on Wednesday, and then the Montgomery boys come for a three days' stay, which winds up the present home stay of the Crackers.

COBB DROPS FEW POINTS

Ty Cobb was able to make only three hits in eight trips to the pan in the double-header on Sunday, and his batting average suffered a slight slump, the modernize of baseball now holding an average of but .514.

Here is Ty's record to date:

G.	AB.	R.	H.	SB.	BA.
26	70	12	36	12	.514

YANKS GET SHORTSTOP

NEW YORK, May 26.—The trade by which Shortstop Peckinpaugh comes from the Cleveland club to the New York Americans, in exchange for infielder Stump and Outfielder Lelivelt, is expected by Manager Chance to plug the Yankees' long existing gap at short. Derrick, Stump and McKechnie have tried successively, but none has solved the shortstop problem.

With Peckinpaugh the Yankees have obtained a player with a fielding record of .924 in 69 games for Cleveland last year, only four of the regulars in this position topping him. His batting average was .212.

The Cleveland club will be the fourth club in the American league in which Lelivelt has seen service. He started out with the Philadelphia Athletics, then went to Washington, from which city he was sent to Rochester. He was brought to New York last season.

Rival Teams Work At Longwood Club

BOSTON, May 26.—The courts of the Longwood Cricket club will be the practice ground for the next two days of members of both the Australian and American tennis teams, which will contest for the Davis cup.

They will not oppose each other. The play last week of the Australians was closely observed by experts, as a whole, the visitors seem to prefer the English back court style, rarely going to the net.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR MOTOR STARS WILL RACE ON THE LOCAL TRACK

QUAKER CLUBS MAKING PACE IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Phillies Have Been Going Like House Afire—Athletics Suffered Slight Slump During Week Just Closed

NEW YORK, May 26.—Although the pace-making clubs in the two major leagues sustained their lead during the baseball week which closed with Saturday's games, there was considerable shifting among the teams following in the wake of the Philadelphia Nationals and Athletics.

Quaker town fans have a right to be proud of the type of game being played by their representatives in both leagues, Dooin's men are traveling at a speed which is causing the rival club managers much worry. Five victories and no defeats was the week's record. Analysis of the box scores shows the speed of the Phillies.

Brooklyn managed to hold second place more on account of her early lead than because of the week's record.

The New Yorkes, who finished the previous week in third place, abdicated in favor of St. Louis and Manager McGraw realized that his combination was not running to the form of a year ago, for during the week he endeavored to strengthen his pitching staff by trading Devors, Ames and Croh to Cincinnati for Pitcher Fromme.

The Cardinals edged into third place, while Chicago failed to improve its standing, and Pittsburg moved from seventh to sixth place. Boston was able to play but three games, owing to rain, and these were turned into defeats by Cincinnati and Chicago. Joe Tinker's Reds were able to gather in but one victory and his hold on last place remains undisputed.

A detailed record of the week in the National league, showing games played, won, lost, runs, hits, errors and men left on bases, follows:

Clubs.	P.	W.	L.	R.	H.	E.	LB.
Phila.	5	5	0	34	59	3	31

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

While the Athletics lost thirty-one points in the American league race to Mackmen held safely to first place. Cleveland moved from third to second place, their wins including three out of four from Washington, which indefinitely broke Walter Johnson's winning streak after the famous pitcher had ran ten straight victories in the six weeks of the 1913 season.

Washington, as a result, dropped to fourth place, while Chicago moved into third position. The world's champions also moved up to fifth place, while the St. Louis Browns dropped to sixth. Detroit and New York failed to advance from seventh and eighth positions, respectively.

The week's records in the American league are:

NEW CATCHER FOR ATLANTA

Manager Smith has just purchased from the Cincinnati club Catcher Chapman, and this young star will probably arrive during Monday, maybe in time for the game with the Pelicans. The nougul has been after this boy for some days and is more than pleased at successfully winding up the deal.

Last season Chapman was with the Topeka Western league club, and did good work. He fielded .977 in ninety-nine games and batted .238.

It has not yet been decided just which catcher will be turned adrift. Waivers will be asked on either Graham or Dunn during the day.

GIBBONS IS NOW DODGING

NEW YORK, May 26.—The manager of K. O. Brown, Jack Britton, Young Ahearn, etc., hands Mike Gibbons a verbal slap as follows:

"Mike Gibbons, since he returned here, is as persistent in demanding contests with third raters as he was before he made his runaway match with Eddie McGoorty. Give Gibbons a fourth rate boob, and he is a wild lion. Stack him against a good man like Young Ahearn or McGoorty, and he is as ferocious as a sick lamb. If Mike Gibbons will pay any attention to his fair and logical statement let him come on and sign up with Young Ahearn, who will either make him run for his life or give the public their money's worth."

It's quite true that Gibbons hasn't shown any great desire to meet the toughest of middleweights. But why ring in poor little Ahearn with Eddie McGoorty, who really has beaten a few good men in that class? Ahearn—why, Packey McFarland, half-way between light and welter limits, knocked Ahearn out without any trouble in eight rounds. Ahearn probably would make Gibbons run for his life—to catch him. But why talk of matching Ahearn against Gibbons? Mike doesn't want to be arrested for cruelty to children.

Sunday Game For Atlanta

The Crackers and the Vols will tie up for their first Sunday game on next Sunday at Nashville. This is the first time that these two teams have gotten together for a Sunday game, as the supreme court has just recently decided that the playing of Sunday ball was legal within the city of Nashville, and the Vols took advantage of the ruling and played to a record crowd yesterday. There were over 8,000 people out to see the rival Tennessee cities battle. Nashville got by with the big end of the score, defeating the Lookouts by the big score of 6 to 0.

This Sunday baseball scheme is a good thing for the people who have to work all day during the week. It gives them a chance to get rid of a world of surplus energy that must be gotten rid of and that would otherwise go into channels that are more harmful. Nashville has taken a great step, and the people are behind the movement, as was evidenced by the big crowds that attended the game yesterday.

BRANNEN NOW MANAGER OF THE LAGRANGE CLUB

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 26.—The LaGrange baseball team underwent a decided shake-up Saturday night. A new manager having been elected, and four old players released with new men to take their places. Obediah Hill, recently elected manager resigned because of the condition of his arm and "Kid" Brannen, star pitcher for the University of Georgia last year, and captain of the 1912 university team was elected as his successor.

Brannen has been coaching both Dahlonega and the University of Georgia this year. Last year the team of which he was captain took three straight *games from Tech. In the general shake-*up, which occurred the entire staff was placed o nthe bench, and no pitcher is to be used in the field except in emergency. Two new pitchers and two new men take their places with the team when it opens a three-game series in Talladega today.

The tea mas it will appear is McGee, catcher. Newkirk, first base; Broughton, second base; Hokenbrod, shortstop; Clarke, third base; Waldron, left field; Robinson, center field; Donaldson, right field; pitchers, Brannen, Schuessler, Beasley, Nelson. The team plays three games at Talladega and then three at Opelika, then back home for six games.

SUFFRAGETTES MAKE EFFORT TO DESTROY THE GOLF LINKS

(By Associated Press.)

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 26.—Two militant suffragettes attempted early today to damage the golf links here and so interfere with the opening of play for the amateur golf championship of the world.

The women were intercepted near the seventeenth green by guards who have been on duty in considerable force for over a week owing to the threats of militant leaders.

One of the women escaped, but the other was caught. She was liberated after being searched and was not handed over to the police.

The weather was perfect for the opening of today's matches. The sun shone brightly and a mild breeze was blowing in from the sea, drying up the course and favorably affected the players, especially the American representatives, Douglas Grant, of San Francisco, who had suffered as a member of the Richmond Golf club in England, scratched at the last moment. Harold Weber, of Toledo; C. W. Inslee, of the Oneida Community club of New York; W. Heinrich Schmidt, of Worcester, Mass.; Campbell D. White, of San Francisco, and Findlay S. Douglas, of the Nassau Country club, Long Island, were all ready to start.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

The hitting of Robertson and Spencer and the error of Clancy were the main features of the Sunday battle between Mobile and New Orleans. The error of Clancy in the eighth gave the Gulls the victory. Robertson and Spencer both got three hits out of four times at the plate.

Yesterday was an off day with the Chicago team and Cleveland walked away with a lopsided game by the score of 5 to 1. The Cleveland boys hit the ball at will and the Chicagoans failed to field them and the game was a farce. Jackson and Ryan for Cleveland, were the batting stars of the fray, each getting three hits out of five times up.

Bates' long triple and a sacrifice fly by Hofman gave Cincinnati their lone run in their game with Pittsburg yesterday. This one, however, was enough to win. The game was a close and exciting one, the pitchers doing all the work.

Salee, the big first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, leaned against the ball yesterday and knocked a home run with the bases full. This gave Chicago a four-run lead and they steadily increased it until they finally defeated the St. Louis team by the score of 9 to 2. The fielding and batting of Zimmerman were the features of the game.

The Turtles bunched five hits in the second inning yesterday and defeated Montgomery by the score of 4 to 2, although the Montgomery bunch outhit the Memphis aggregation, for Memphis, was steady all the way through and was given errorless support.

The Detroit Tigers got themselves together yesterday and defeated the St. Louis team both games of the double-header, taking the first by the score of 7 to 4 and the second 8 to 6. A triple by Cobb and a single by Veach won the second game. Manager Stovall was seen in a uniform for the first time since his suspension.

Beck, of Nashville, had everything with him yesterday and blanked Chattanooga, winning the game by a six-run margin, which was made as the result of extra heavy batting. Hunt, a new pitcher, was in the box for Chattanooga, but he was soon knocked out. There were 3,000 people at the game, this being the first Sunday game that has been played on this circuit since the recent court ruling.

Hard Hitting In the Sally

By consistentn winning, while her nearest competitors Jacksonville, lost in the same way, Savannah still further increased her lead in the South Atlantic league race this week and begins the new series nearly 300 points ahead of the field.

The league leaders clashed the past week, much to Savannah's benefit, as she won two to Jacksonville's one. Against Albany, Savannah made a clean sweep.

Jacksonville, Macon and Columbus are bunched around the .500 mark, and the present week ought to see some interesting contests in the efforts to shift the outline of the percentage column. Charleston, taking three and dropping three the past week, remains just above .400, while Albany took a decided drop by losing every game player, four. Two games were postponed by the weather. This team remains crippled, however, and the line ups of the week have shown extra pitchers in the outfield and shifts in the infield, which have prevented their best work.

Heavy hitting was the rule of the week. In fielding, however, Savannah was far ahead of the other teams, and played three perfect games. This club and Columbus topped the others in base running.

Big league scouts were present at several games during the week, sizing up the material.

TODAY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 26.—Mobile and Chattanooga play the first game of a three-game series today. The weather is clear and warm. Batteries: Chattanooga, More and Street; Mobile, Berger and Schmidt.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 26.—Montgomery's team is here for a series with Birmingham *and sharp contests are ex-*pected. Birmingham will start the series with Prough and Mayer as the battery and Montgomery will work C. Brown and Gribsene.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 26.—Memphis opens a three-game series here today. Fleharty or Brackenridge will pitch for Nashville with Gibson catching. For Memphis the battery will probably be Newton and Snell. Weather fair.

Nashville Club Wins

NASHVILLE, Ga., May 26.—The Nashville ball club went to Adel Saturday and played the team of that place off their feet, winning by a score of 4 to 1.

Hull's hit scored two runners in the sixth stanza. Morris drove one over the right field fence.

Luke was on the mound for for the locals and was master of the situation.

Batteries: Adel, Rollins and Williams; Nashville, Luke and Morris.

All That Now Remains to Be Done to Get Track in Shape Is to Place the Seats, and This Work Is Now in Progress

The track at Jack Prince's motorcycle speedway is now finished and the crack riders who are here are clipping off from sixty to eighty miles an hour over the high embanked track. The carpenters have now turned their attention to the erection of the 12,000 seats and this is progressing rapidly.

It is not yet known just when the entire track will be completed, but it is probable that the last seat will be in place within the next two weeks. It is quite a job to place 12,000 seats, but a large force of carpenters is turning the trick in good style.

Two of the professional riders who will ride on the motordrome have a world-wide reputation, holding the record for twenty-four hours' competition. This was made on the Brighton Beach track last fall in a field of ten teams that started and only four of the ten finished. Lockner and Shields rode in the twenty-four hours 1,075 miles. This race attracted the attention of the entire motorcycle world, as it was the first race of the kind ever put on. All of the best motorcycle drivers in the country were entered, as the prizes offered were large. The race was of the team race style, the same as used in the six-day events in New York Madison Square Garden. The riders are supposed to relieve each other so that each man rides twelve hours. The average per hour was a fraction over forty miles, which is faster than any train could go for the same length of time. The strain of the riding was very great on each man and both were completely exhausted at the finish.

The riders claim that riding the motorcycles at the high speed they have to make on the board tracks requires special trailing for them to get accustomed to it. Already the riders that are now here awaiting the opening night are taking special work to get ready for the events, although the races that will be put on by Prince will be short races, not over five miles each. But these heats will be run off in less than four minutes, but in these few minutes is crowded all the strain that the human nerves can handle. Tearing around a quarter mile bowl board track at the rate of ten seconds to the quarter or covering 130 feet in one second will give one an idea of what speed they will ride. To be off the job for the fractional part of one second might mean something very serious to the rider.

There are so many dangers that these fellows have to figure on that it requires absolute concentration of all power for the few minutes they are racing.

Fast Time Made

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 26.—Ray Duer, riding in his, old-time form, defeated Harvey Wilcox in a five-mile motor-paced race at the opening meet of the Salt Palace bicycle track here last night. The distance was covered in 6:56 2-5.

McCarty Had Neck Broken

CALGARY, Alberta, May 26.—Arthur Pelkey, from whose stiff right hook near the heart Luther McCarty fell dead in the ring at the Burns arena Saturday afternoon, will face a charge of manslaughter in police court here Monday. The Royal Northwest Mounted police completed the necessary papers in thecharge placed against him today.

Just before the death of McCarty was announced, it developed today, Pelkey had slipped into his street clothes at the request of his trainers and was taken to his hotel in an automobile. It was not until after he had washed and dressed that he learned of McCarty's death. He had started from the hotel when officers arrived and took him into custody.

An autopsy was held over the dead fighter's body late Saturday night and an inquest will be held Monday afternoon. The result of the post mortem is withheld pending an inquest.

Numerous doubts were expressed as to the actual cause of death. It didn't seem as though there was sufficient force behind the blow to the heart to cause death, several have declared. Pelkey said he didn't believe this punch actually landed near the heart.

It was currently rumored here that McCarty suffered from a slight weakness of the heart the last few days and this in conjunction with the excitement of the bout and the landing of the unexpected punch are generally blamed for his death.

It was stated by the physicians that death undoubtedly was caused by the dislocated neck and that the heart was found to be sound. A clot of blood on the brain aided in convincing the physicians that death was not due to the blow near the heart.

Shortly after the contest began yesterday, McCarty received a sharp jab to jaw which sent his head back quickly. It did not appear to have caused any pain and he was afterward on his feet for half a minute. The left to the jaw was followed by Pelkey with a right to the heart region which caused the spectators to believe the latter blow had brought the knockout.

Physicians are of the opinion that the dislocation of the neck was not sustained in the fall which followed. He fell slowly and did not strike his head.

McCarty's body will be taken to his birthplace at Hastings, Neb., Monday night.

The fatal ending will have the effect of putting the lid down tight on boxing contests in western Canada. Tommy Burns succeeded for just one year in running bouts at his arena located outside the city limits.

Betting on the contest was lively at two to one against Pelky holding out for ten rounds while McCarty was straight five to one favorite for the decision. It was not generally supposed that Pelkey could gain enoughs clencein three weeks to give him a chance with McCarty. Pelkey showed a great deal of improvement over former appearances. During the brief contest he exhibited better judgment of distance than his opponent and also put more steam into his blows.

Skull Injured In Mat Match

MONTREAL, May 26.—Stanislaus Zybszko, the Polish wrestler who suffered a fractured skull and other injuries as a result of a plunge from the ring to the floor and alleged foiling tactics used by his opponent, Constant Lemarin, in a match here last night. It is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal.

When hostilities began again the Pole was the aggressor. He had secured a partial crotch and reverse half Nelson when the Frenchman, it is alleged by the referee, fouled Zybszko so fiercely that the contest was stopped and the decision awarded the Pole.

Captain For Track Team

Joseph A. Logan, of Savannah, Ga., a member of the junior class of the Georgia Tech, has been re-elected captain of the track team. Logan is considered one of the best short distance men in the south, and led his team to many victories last year, and a signal honor was conferred upon him when he was elected captain of the 1914 team. All Savannah boys take a great deal of interest in all doings of the school, and this is but one instance of what the coast boys have done for Georgia Tech.

The Newport dog show will be held at the Casino on August 8 and 9.

Women Start Golf Tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 26.—Some of the best women golfers in the south will begin the qualifying round for the championship of the Woman's Southern Golf association at the local links of the Country club.

Sixteen will qualify in the first flight which will play for the champion, the Country club championship cup, the president's cup and the association cup.

Those entering the qualifying round today included representatives from Birmingham, Atlanta, Nashville, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Montgomery and Memphis.

This is the third annual tournament of the association and will continue until Friday when the finals will be played.

BY GRANTLAND RICE

The Capital of the I-Should-Worry commonwealth has just been located. The name is Philadelphia.

It will be at least two more weeks, however, before Messrs. Dooin and Mack announce their battery selections for the first world series fight. Two weeks and possibly another.

WITH APOLOGIES.
(To the Bloke Who Started It.)

Said Truxton Hare to Connie Mack,
"Do you think Cobb is going back"?
"I wish he'd go to—you know where"—
Said Connie Mack to Truxton Hare.

L. K. J.

It's a pity about Cobb's bad eyes. The fellow could never see much anyway, and under this late affliction it's more than probable that he will not hit a blow above .430.

Here's a brief theorem for the first class in batting eyes: If Cobb with his eyes normal, bats .410 and with his eyes badly off bats .490, what will happen to rival pitchers if he ever goes stone blind?

SONG OF THE FLAG RACE.

"The Giants are class of the league, old dog"—
"Clarke's team is there with the Poling Log"—
"Now watch them Cubs skid out of the bog"—
But the Phillies keep on winning.

"O, yes, the Giants have an easy call"—
"Pittsburg has the stuff to beat them all"—
"The Cubs are there with the inside ball"—
But the Phillies keep on winning.

The Phillies—we don't know what they've got—
Whether a little or whether a lot—
Whether they're there or whether not—
They merrily keep on winning.

No one has yet accused the Japs of being foolish in the bean. As long as Walter Johnson has his present smoke and Cobb is batting over .480 no early assault upon our hearthsides is likely to be started. It would take Japan's present army to break up Cobb's base running alone.

THE PIRATE UPLIFT.

The Piratical uplift will soon be on in earnest. It took Clarke's ball club longer to get started than any other game save the Red Sox but once under way they look to be one of the leading flag favorites of their league.

The main Pirate weakness each season is a delayed start and just why a club of this fighting strength should waste the first five weeks each season in desultory firing and second division play is a mystery. A mystery that no one has been able to solve in spite of earnest consultations with the ever elastic dope. Pittsburg drew one running start back in 1909—and tore off the flag by July. Since that date they have only played pennant ball after some one else had foreclosed on the pennant mortgage. This season they have spotted the Phillies nine games—and whether it be May or January—Nine games are nine games.

AGE NOT HURTING WAGNER

PITTSBURG, May 26.—Here is Hans Wagner, the greatest mechanical baseball player known to the history of the game, back in the game. Gray shows about the temples of the veteran of fifteen campaigns on the diamond, but he has not slackened his pace. His fielding is as great and his batting as heavy as in the days when the Pirates stood to win championships. It is not Hans' fault that the Pirates are not contenders for the National league pennant this year. If every member of the crew were his equal the race would be a runaway.

Hans refuses to pose for pictures for the scores of photographers who approach him, and it has been difficult to get one of his face and the lines in it. But the photographer in this case caught him opportunely and the fighting spirit o fthe gerat Dutchman was never before better illustrated.

It was feared some weeks ago that he was out of the game for the season, perhaps for all time, but he insists now, as does Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburg team, that he will go through this season winning as he has done for fifteen years past.

JOE BIRMINGHAM YOUNGEST OF MAJOR LEAGUE LEADERS

Joe Birmingham, whose remarkable success this season with the Cleveland club of the American league has interested the fans all over the country, has lost his streak of luck. Not only has he broken his leg and thus been put out of the game, but Larry Lajoie, the mighty second baseman, was so badly hurt that he had to remain out for some days.

The injury may eliminate the Naps from the position of contender in the league race.

In the ninth inning of the second game with Frank Chance's New York team, Birmingham doubled, and in sliding into second caught his spikes on the rod to which the bag was fastened, breaking the bone in one of his ankles. The injury may keep him out of the game the balance of the season.

Birmingham's success as a manager has been meteoric. When Harry Davis resigned in disgust toward the close of last year, Birmingham was placed in charge of a team that was fast skidding toward the cellar. He seemed to put new life into the Naps immediately. The team pulled itself together and by a magnificent spurt in the closing days nosed out the White Sox and finished in the first division.

The present season opened in a blaze of glory for Cleveland. Birmingham kept them in the fight from the start, and played a magnificent game himself in the outfield.

Albany Club House Burned to Ground

ALBANY, Ga., May 26.—The grandstand and clubhouse at the Albany ball park (South Atlantic league) were destroyed early Sunday morning by fire. Players lost their uniforms and other paraphernalia.

Albany has been losing, and fans hope the "jinx" has been cremated.

The stands are to be rebuilt. Games are to be transferred, three to Charleston and three to Savannah. Insurance, $1,000.

British Polo Stars All Great Athletes

Mounts Could Not Be Improved Upon and the Players Are Shifty

NEW YORK, May 26.—England's team of polo players, which will make an attempt to lift the international challenge cup from its American holding by the Meadow Brook four in June, have arrived in this country. In the party were Captain R. C. Ritson, Captain A. Noel Edwards, Captain Vivian N. Lockett and Captain Leslie St. George Cheape and, in addition, F. M. Freake, who will act as a reserve in case any of the regular men become incapacitated. Captain Edwards and Mr. Freake were accompanied by their wives.

They are all big, upstanding fellows. All, with the exception of Mr. Freake, are cavalrymen in his majesty's guards and dragoons, and, as one admirer who met them on the pier remarked, "They look like the magazine pictures of heroes, don't they?"

Captain C. D. Miller, D. S. O., the Duke of Westminster's master of the horse, met the polo men at the pier. They were delighted to learn of the safe arrival of the ponies and that all were quartered snugly at the Piping Rock Country club, Locust Valley, Long Island, where the team will do its preparatory training before meeting Harry Payne Whitney and his band of cup defenders on the field at Meadow Brook on Tuesday, June 10, in the first of the pulse-stirring battles for the famous trophy.

Captain R. C. Ritson, who is to play the position of No. 3 and act as captain of the team, courteously answered a volley of questions. "Of course it is my first visit to America, and I hope it will be a successful one," he replied when pressed to predict the probable outcome of the matches. "So far as the ponies are concerned, I do not believe that the mounts could be improved upon anywhere. In this respect we are better equipped than was Captain Hardress Lloyd's team that tried to lift the cup two years ago.

"As for the players, I'm a bit skittish about expressing an opinion, for we shall miss Walter S. Buckmaster, and there has been a lot of hit and miss criticism in England. I'll put it this way, however: We haven't as good a side as we had two years ago, and still we are hopeful."

The genial captain of the invading forces went on to say that the Duke of Westminster and the officials at Hurlingham had left no stone unturned to insure the success of the venture, that while the men were new to each other, still all were experienced players, and should be able to go perfectly after a week's practice together.

Captain Ritson went on to say that the probable line-up of the team would place Captain Cheape at No. 1, the position he played in the memorable matches of 1911. Captain Edwards would take his position at No. 2, the same as two years ago, when he rode so valiantly through the opening made by Captain Cheape and Captain Hardress Lloyd to tally eight of the nine goals scored for the British side. Captain Ritson will play No. 3, while Captain Lockett will hold the position of luck, where he hopes to check the Jovian thunderbolts that Devereaux Milburn, the American back, hurls through the field as he charges after the ball.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Dairy Industry

THIS industry, like many others, now amounts to many thousands and probably millions of dollars to Georgia. However, it is looked upon as a little insignificant item and there are but few people who realize what it is worth to this state, or take into consideration for a moment the many disadvantages that those who are making a living out of it and who have worked it up to a point it now is have had to struggle under to make out of it what we are now doing. It is a fact that probably not more than five per cent of the people who desire to undertake this business have capital enough to even build a decent barn, let alone buy the right kind of cattle and put up a home. With all of these disadvantages facing us this business has grown by leaps and bounds, and scarcely a single person who is working on these lines but that is making money out of it. It shows conclusively that a big per cent of profit can be made out of this work, and will help everyone who undertakes it and they can soon be on the safe road to prosperity if they will stick to it and post themselves more thoroughly on the things that will help them.

On the other hand people who have capital have one-hundred times more opportunities to make money out of this work than those who have not. The only means start right. For instance, when a bank or a factory is organized the first thing that is done a sufficient amount of money is raised to carry on and conduct this business, and as the business grows more stock is sold and it is increased and sufficient capital secured to handle any amount of business that usually comes. And, with the amount of successful business methods used there are but few of these industries who ever declare or pay more than an 8 per cent dividend on the capital invested and the stock-holders are usually more than satisfied. Now there is scarcely a dairy or a farm that is operated under the most adverse circumstances, the very highest per cent of interest paid and practically no capital to operate on but that are paying any where from five to one-hundred times a larger per cent of profit on the amount invested than many banks or public corporations, and this is proof sufficient to show anyone that if the people of this country who have a desire to do this work could secure or would be furnished sufficient capital no profit would certainly could make a handsome per cent of profit for themselves and those who furnish the capital, and in addition help build up the country wonderfully as well as produce something to feed the nation on that would probably reduce the cost of living.

I can't see how business men who have kept track of their dairy business the same as they would other lines of industry. Both of these men are interested in a bank, also in manufacturing enterprises. Both have told me that their dairies or herds of cattle had paid them an average of over 25 per cent on the investment, when the banks and manufacturing enterprises that they were interested in were doing well if they paid one-third of this amount. How many people stop to think about these things, and especially men with capital who could afford to take up this line of work? Scarcely one in one hundred. How can we help but see this high cost of living and the scarcity of food products with more force every day when such a state of affairs exists, and the poor fellow who is producing these things and trying to feed the nation is compelled to work with practically no capital year in and year out and under the most disadvantages it is possible to throw around a man. Even with all these things the interest is fast growing and if there was not a big per cent of profit in it the people who are now interested could not possibly exist. I am glad to say most of them are keeping their heads above water and are being recognized more than ever. They deserve it and even better than they are getting, and if those who have the capital would become more interested and would help the ones who are willing to do the work many of them would find the dairy industry a far more profitable way of investing their money than in many banks and factories.

Yours very truly,

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Please advise me as to what will cure mange on dogs. I have an old dog that has it badly. I also have a pair of puppies that I am afraid will take it. Please tell me how to prevent them from taking it. I was thinking of trying stock dip. Thanking you in advance, I am,

C. P. R.
Borden Springs, Ala.

ANSWERS.

The best thing to cure mange on a dog is to use raw linseed oil, one pint, to which has been added one ounce of pure carbolic acid. If the dog is thoroughly greased with this and kept on a plank floor out of the dirt for a few days, usually one application will cure him, and it will keep the pups from having it if they are greased also. However, it should be said that the best thing for the pups as the old dogs, and a smaller amount of carbolic acid or a little more oil added to that which is already made up for the pups will be best. If this work is thoroughly done it will cure the worst case of mange.

Owners to Ask for Appropriation for Widening of Peachtree Between Carnegie Way and Harris—Twelve- and Five-Story Buildings Planned There—Whole Floor in Hurt Building Leased—Whitehall Owners Ask Appropriation

The first step toward the widening of Peachtree street from Carnegie way to Harris street will be taken Monday afternoon when several property owners, headed by Edward Alfriend, will appear before the finance committee of the city council to ask for an appropriation for this purpose.

The present step contemplates taking a five-foot strip from each sidewalk, giving to the street ten feet more width between curbs, and making it conform in width to the stretch of the street between Harris and Baker streets.

The widening of the sidewalks will follow later, the street widening being a unit in the general plan of widening which will make of Peachtree street close to a metropolitan business thoroughfare.

This would double the traffic accommodations of a street already congested, and would permit a double stream of vehicles between the car line and the curb on each side of the street.

Captain Clayton estimates that to replace the strip with asphalt and relay mains and pipes would cost but $5,000, and this amount will be asked for.

For the present the additional width would not affect pedestrians, as the sidewalks will not be widened for the present. However, all new buildings will be set back so as to allow for a fifteen-foot walk. Some of the buildings are already set back. A good deal of the property is vacant, and there is probably not an entire block of buildings in the distance that would be affected. The widening of the sidewalks can easily be taken care of as the occasion demands.

BUILDINGS TO BE ERECTED.

Dependent on this action is the erection of at least one twelve-story building and one or more five-story structures. The improvement is one that affects the appearance and betterment of the whole city.

Following are the owners who will appear before the committee at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon: R. F. Maddox, Edward Adair, W. R. Hamby, Carl Hill, W. E. Wimpey, H. S. Jackson, John W. Grant, Wilmer L. Moore, W. F. Winecoff, Asa G. Candler, J. H. Gilbert, Hugh Richardson, W. H. Kiser, William Lowenstein, John E. Murphy, J. H. Ewing, Hugh Scott, Dr. J. R. Hopkins and Willis F. Razor.

HURT BUILDING LEASE.

Office space in Atlanta still seems to be at a premium, judging by the number of applications made for it in the Hurt building, although that structure will not be ready for occupancy much before October 1.

A local concern whose name was not given, on Saturday leased a whole floor for a term of ten years. At the office of the Atlanta Realty corporation it was said that this space was taken over the tenth floor. There are several applications for other space now on file.

Mr. Hurt said Monday that the rear wall of the building, facing Ivy street, would be plastered over, and that the company hoped soon to extend the building so as to cover the entire triangle bounded by Edgewood avenue, Exchange place and Ivy street. Just when the extension would be made, he said, could not be announced just now.

The outer exterior walls of the building are being laid with white-faced brick, and the balance of the steel is being put on tch top story.

Derricks are now placing steel columns for the Healey building, and work is being pushed rapidly on it. There are applications for space in this building also.

WHITEHALL PETITION.

A hundred or more property owners appeared before the city finance committee on Monday urging it to make all possible haste in its resolution for the re-grading of Whitehall street.

Talks were made by S. M. Inman, J. Carroll Payne, Walker Dunson, Victor Kriegshaber and others.

The committee took no definite action, as everybody seemed to be hopeful that the appropriation would be included in the present apportionment sheet. The most $30,000 will be required.

At least one building operation is being laid up on account of the grade and others are talked of on Whitehall street.

Insurance Commissioner Wright and Deputy Insurance Commissioner Copeland have exercised a new jurisdiction which was conferred upon them by the act of 1912.

This act requires that insurance agents shall make application to the department for license before they solicit business, and that the department must be convinced of their good moral character and integrity. This new law gives the insurance commissioner the right to revoke the license issued to any agent at any time in his discretion.

The United States Health and Life Insurance company brought the proceedings before the commissioner to revoke the license of Alfred H. Paddison, Jr., on the grounds that his character was not good and that he was making false representations against the standing of this company. The deputy commissioner heard evidence for two days and then determined to discipline the company employing Paddison, because he had no license, and told him that he would not be issued license unless he proved beyond a reasonable doubt that he had good moral character.

This ruling shows that the department is using every effort to make industrial insurance real insurance, and that it means to put this business on a thoroughly respectable basis, and that it means that it shall be in the hands of only trustworthy persons.

BURTON SMITH MAY TAKE ACTION AGAINST FIGHTERS

States That Unless Opponents Are Shown Guilty He Will Swear Out Warrants

When the grand jury considers the evidence in the case regarding the fight between Burton Smith and two men at the court house last week, Mr. Smith will swear out warrants of assault and battery against his opponents if it should be necessary, according to his statement to a Journal reporter Monday morning.

The men who are bringing action against Mr. Smith, Reuben R. Arnold and John C. Cox, are C. W. Walton and W. H. Byrd. Mr. Smith says that these men started the fight, and are the ones who should really be indicted, if an indictment is made.

"I suppose," stated Mr. Smith Monday morning, "that the probe of grand jury will take such a course that it will be proven that these men are the guilty parties, for they were the ones who started the row; and not I. I have never before taken out a warrant against a man who fought me, and I never expect to, but unless these men are made to suffer for what they began, I shall do it this time."

"STEEL TRUST" ALLOWED HARVESTER SHORT PRICE

Judge Dickinson Regards This as a Preferential Contract, Farrell Testifies

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, resumed the witness stand today for further cross-examination in the government's suit to dissolve the corporation.

Taking up the relation between the steel corporation and the International Harvester company, which the government maintains is a "favored relation," owing to interlocking directors, Judge Dickinson, government counsel, showed that the Illinois Steel company, a subsidiary, in July, 1902, sold 40,000 tons of steel to the Harvester company at a special rate below the market.

The minutes set forth that the concession was given because of "the position of the Harvester company among manufacturers." It added that "we shall not announce the price, but that the fact that the sale had been consummated would be made known in order to "cause others to come into the market."

"Don't you call that a preferential contract?" asked Judge Dickinson.

"Not at all," said the witness. "You never can tell when agricultural implement makers will come into the market. When one starts, the rest do. This contract was simply a matter of salesmanship."

ROOSEVELT DENOUNCES CHARGE THAT HE DRINKS

Colonel Roosevelt in Marquette, Mich., Suing Editor for Alleged Libel

(By Associated Press.)

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 26.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt accompanied by a retinue of friends, witnesses and newspaper men, arrived here this morning. His suit for $10,000 damages, charging libel against George A. Newett, publishers of the Ishpeming "Iron Ore," is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the selection of a jury.

The editorial assertion of Publisher George A. Newett was that Theodore Roosevelt "gets drunk" and that not infrequently.

Accompanying Colonel Roosevelt were Robert Bacon, former assistant secretary of state; Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy; Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, Regis H. Post, former governor of Porto Rico, Dr. Alexander Lambert, Jacob A. Riis, Dr. Rikey, former surgeon general of the navy; Lawrence Abbot, W. Emlen Roosevelt and his son, Philip; William Loeb, Jr., Gilson Gardner, L. A. Curtis, O. K. Davis, Frank Tyree, John Callan O'Laughlin and James Sloan. All of these are to be witnesses. Sloan and Tyree are secret service men who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt on many of his campaign tours.

Forenoon proceedings in court occupied less than a minute.

"Roosevelt vs. Newett," read the clerk of the calendar.

"The plaintiff is ready," said Attorney W. S. Hill.

"The defense is ready," repeated Attorney W. P. Belden.

Judge Flannagan then announced the case would begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

DR. ROBERTS PREACHES AT HARRIS ST. CHURCH

Stated Clerk of U. S. A. Assembly Predicts Organic Union of Presbyterians

Rev. William Henry Roberts, D. D., LL.D., of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., preached Sunday morning at the Harris Street Presbyterian church, remaining over in Atlanta for this engagement after the assembly adjourned at the Baptist Tabernacle last Friday.

His subject was "The Characteristics of the Presbyterian Church as They Are Related to the Welfare of the American Nation."

Going back to early Presbyterian history, he showed how the church of Scotland, by its fidelity to Presbyterian ideals of faith and conduct, has been a power in the development of Scotland, and how also Scotland has imparted to the church a great deal of its ruggedness and vigor.

Sketching the history of the church in America, Dr. Roberts showed that the organization of the general assembly in Philadelphia in 1706 established, seventy-five years in advance of the continental congress, those democratic principles which are the genius of our American system of government.

Dr. Roberts predicted that the day is not far distant when all groups of the Presbyterian church will form an organic union.

In addition to his office in the general assembly, which he has held thirty years, Dr. Roberts for twenty-five years has been American secretary of the World's Presbyterian Alliance.

His intellect and energies, apart from transacting the duties of stated clerk, have been directed for many years toward the goal of a united council not only among the Presbyterian churches, but also among all branches of Presbyterian religion.

And he has lived to see in the federal council of churches of Christ in America, his dream partially realized.

VETERANS ASSEMBLE FOR REUNION WHERE ONCE THEY BATTLED

of this twentieth century agitation among a lot of distempered women who are clamoring for women's rights.'

"It is known that Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mr. Roosevelt's oldest daughter, and Miss Helen Taft eschewed the cross entirely and if President Wilson will pardon even an allusion to his daughters on this subject, I will regret an imaginary bet of a $5 gold piece against the stump of a cigar that the public will never have occasion to associate any one of them with the cross saddle.

"Women have been encroaching on us poor fellows for years; they have robbed us of our hats, coats, shirts, collars, top boots, have long been tugging at our trousers and I understand they began a short time ago to tinker with our socks. But, worst of all, they have jumped astride our saddle horses.

"On the occasion of a recent visit to Washington and New York City I satisfied myself that the truly refined and elegant ladies of these cities who exercised on horseback, rode on side saddles."

Indications today are general that General Hickman's order will be rigidly enforced.

N. Y. HEALTH OFFICER WOULD BAR FRIEDMANN

Dr. O'Connell Asks Board of Health to Stop German's Treatment in State

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—Dr. Joseph J. O'Connell, health officer of the port of New York, sent a letter today to Health Commissioner Lederle, requesting him to submit to the board of health at its next meeting a resolution prohibiting the admission of the Friedmannan treatment for tuberculosis in New York "until such time as those interested affirmatively in its administration shall satisfy the health department of its innocuous character."

"Reports of the investigator of your department," reads the letter in part, "are that dangers which might be apprehended in such a form of treatment are actually present therein. He finds *that patients subjected to this treat*ment have not improved, but have lost ground.

"He finds that where the tuberculosis condition has affected one side prior to inoculation with the serum (sic) there was after such inoculation an unnaturally rapid development of the tubercular process on the hitherto healthy side, which indicates that the operation of the alleged cure had a tendency to accelerate rather than retard the progress of the disease.

"It seems to me that it would be culpable for us to longer hesitate, and that our duty now is to insist upon such proper regulation and supervision of this enterprise as shall prevent the perpetuation upon the public of a dangerous and cruel fraud.

"The wide advertisement of the serum has had an effect of awakening a final and pitiable hope in the breast of the desperately ill, which shrewd and conscienceless men might turn into an immense financial profit. There has been time and opportunity in plentiful measure extended to Dr. Friedmann and those who propose similar remedies for tuberculosis to demonstrate the therapeutic value of their treatments, but there has been no such demonstration of value. On the other hand, we have before us reports of the gravest character."

man, and near neighbor of the Colemans, denies the report that Mary Phagan received a message over his telephone Friday before the tragedy to report at the factory that afternoon for her money. Officer Pope states that his phone was often used by members of the Phagan girl's family, but no such message came over it that Friday, he says.

PINKERTON DENIES STATEMENTS.

The Journal has received a letter signed by Allen Pinkerton, of the Pinkerton's National Detective agency, written in reply to a statement by Colonel Thomas B. Felder which appeared in Sunday's Journal.

This statement was headed, "Lanford is controlling genius of conspiracy to protect the murderer of little Mary Phagan," and contains several references to Pinkerton's agency. The letter from Pinkerton's reads in part as follows:

"These statements, in so far as they refer to Pinkerton's National Detective agency, are absolutely without an iota of truth, as Pinkerton's National Detective agency had absolutely no previous knowledge of information concerning or pertaining to the issues between certain Atlanta city officials and Attorney-at-Law Thomas B. Felder, and the agency's first knowledge of these issues or in connection therewith came to our notice through newspaper publications of May 23, 1913.

"We respectfully request that you give this our denial in connection with the statements referred to, as equal prominence as that which you gave the published articles in question."

Solicitor Dorsey on Monday stated that reports that two telephone girls went before the grand jury to give testimony relatives to an alleged telephone conversation on the evening of the tragedy, is incorrect.

Mr. Dorsey says that he knows of no such witnesses.

BLACKSTOCK IS SHOT BY "HUB" TALLEY; MAY DIE

Both Are Police Characters, Shooting Occurred on Peters Street

"Hub" Talley, notorious in police court circles as a blind tiger, several times convicted, is charged by the police with having shot George Blackstock, another police character, Monday morning about 9:30 o'clock on Peters street, near the stock yards of W. M. Talley, "Hub's" father, at No. 212.

Blackstock, in Grady hospital with a wound above his heart, is not expected to live.

Talley is not in the custody of the police, having, it is said, leisurely walked off after the shooting occurred.

The story of the affair as related by the police is that Talley, immediately on seeing Blackstock on the street, drew his pistol and fired without warning.

It is said that Blackstock, who is a stone mason, of 66 Crumley street, "squealed" to Boyce Talley, a brother of "Hub," when "Hub" slipped a pint of whisky from his brother's room several days ago.

In a spirit of revenge, it is said, "Hub" fired as soon as he met Blackstone Monday morning.

Talley, it is said, calmly walked to his room after the shooting, donned his coat and walked away to parts unknown.

Boyce Talley told The Journal shortly before noon that he knew nothing of the affair.

He had "heard something about a shooting," he said, but he was in town when it occurred and knew nothing about it.

our whole country, makes a very serious situation—a situation only a few steps removed from anarchy—for the law is the only protection that organized society has against riot, murder and anarchy, and unless it is firmly enforced by the judges and the juries of our country, crime will increase instead of diminish. America is now the most lawless country in the world, and unless we can check the wave of crime that is sweeping over us, anarchy will soon be a fact. If these views make me a monomaniac, then I accept the title."

In the course of the morning session of court Monday, Recorder Broyles remarked that Thomas Shaw ought to be taken before Governor Brown, "so that the governor could see just what he had pardoned."

Shaw is one of the police "regulars" on the blind tiger docket. Some time ago he was arrested on this charge, fined $500 by the recorder, and likewise found guilty in the city court. The governor pardoned him unconditionally, though with the understanding that he would leave the state.

Now he is back in the police station, having been arrested Saturday night in a raid.

RETAILERS CAN CUT RATES ON PATENTS

Manufacturers of Patented Articles Can Not Fix Retail Price, Says Court

(By Associated Press.)

The supreme court so held today in the case of a newly-patented nerve tonic. Safety razors, talking machines and thousands of other patented articles are affected by the decision.

WILSON WARNS THE COUNTRY OF GIANT TARIFF BILL LOBBY

citizens who desire to speak for the business in which they are engaged, and who have a right to ask congress to hear them.

But, in spite of many rumors that this senator and that senator has decided to vote against the bill, the president today reiterated his faith in the ultimate passage of the bill through the senate substantially as it came from the house. He said he did not know whether it would be passed through the senate by means of a party caucus. In fact he had not paid any particular attention to the details of party discipline in the senate. His faith was not founded so much on that as public sentiment. "Je believed public opinion, being emphatically for this kind of tariff legislation, would cause congress to pass it.

INSIDIOUS LOBBY.

In charging that the lobby is insidious the president spoke by the card. It is doubtful if there is an individual in the United Stes with a record for having aided in the nomination of Mr. Wilson, and who can be retained for lobbying his purposes, who is not here attacking some feature of the tariff bill.

This includes politicians who were active at the Baltimore convention and before. It includes some editors of newspapers who favored the nomination of Mr. Wilson or who have supported some of the senators whose loyalty to the administration program they now are trying to shake. It even includes one clergyman, who is supposed to stand on especially friendly footing with certain officials close to the situation. And it includes women.

It is not a misstatement to say it is the most extraordinary lobby ever collected in Washington. The president says no attempts have been made to get himself personally, and of course, this lobby is too intelligent not to know that would be futile. But, the president is aware of many influences thrown out in all directions against the bill, and that not a single opportunity is being lost to break the slender margin by which the measure will have to pass the senate if it does pass.

Needless Burdens

This is the month when many are either moving or thinking of moving to the country, or mountains, or seashore and, in packing away, will find any number of things that the household knows will never be used again and that will merely serve as dust collectors in the trunk room all summer

Why not get rid of these unnecessary things in the businesslike, up-to-date way by putting an ad in The Journal Want Columns, telling exactly what you want to sell and your burden of useless articles will soon vanish.

This is the common sense way to go about it, too, for then you recover something on your original investment, which often comes in very handy during the summer vacation.

Telephone your ad to The Journal, or ask that it be sent for—whichever is most convenient for you. Main 2000 or Atlanta 423.

TALLULAH FALLS SUIT IS BEGUN AT CLAYTON

Prominent Lawyers Take Part in Suit Brought by State of Georgia

BY SAM BELL,
(Journal Staff Correspondent.)

CLAYTON, Ga., May 26.—The suit of *the state of Georgia to eject the Geor*gia Railway and Power company from the possession of 254 acres in the gorge of the Tallulah river, was begun in the superior court here at 2 o'clock this afternoon before Judge J. B. Jones.

Although the case had been scheduled to open at 9 o'clock this morning, the inability of both sides to secure the desired witnesses brought about the postponement.

Various demurrers filed by the company and answers by the state were scheduled to be taken up before the hearing of witnesses, and it is not likely that the trial proper will open until tomorrow morning. The suit will not last more than three days, attorneys say.

The hearing will probably last an entire week, and many of the most prominent attorneys of Georgia are on committing sides. The land involved in the suit is only a mile long and is located in the Tallulah gorge. The $5,-000,000 power plant of the Georgia Railway and Power company has already almost been completed.

The first session of the court will probably be devoted entirely to the securing of a jury.

PROMINENT LAWYERS.

Among those who have arrived are the leading counsel on both sides to the hearing. Attorney General Thomas S. Felder has arrived with Edgar Watkins, and together they will conduct the case for the state of Georgia.

Three eminent Atlanta lawyers arrived on the same train, as counsel for the power company—Alex C. King Luther Z. Rosser and Charles T. Hopkins. H. H. Dean, of Gainesville, is here also to be associated with them in the suit. Among those retained by the Tallulah Falls Conservation association, who arrived on the scene is R. C. Ellis, of Tifton, Ga. Several other lawyers from different parts of the state will be here.
